New Warning Unleashed By Khrushchev

Red Premier Talks Of Total Destruction Should War Come

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has again coupled a threat of total destruction for the West in the event of war with a prediction of capitalism's inevitable defeat.

In a speech in the Albanian town of Vlore, Khrushchev warned Sunday night that any attack on the Soviet bloc would be "tantamount to suicide." He said the West's "reckless" policies were hastening "the time when mankind will be able to bury capitalism deeply."

"No matter how much aging capitalism is trying to prolong its existence, it is doomed because it will be replaced by the new victorious system — communism," Khrushchev declared.

He promised again that Soviet industrial might would eventually outstrip America's industry.

Earlier announcement was made of a joint Soviet-Albanian communique on world policy, signed in Tirana by Khrushchev and Albania's Red leader Enver Hoxha.

The communique repeated standard Communist calls for an end to colonialism, Red China's seating in the United Nations, reduction of foreign troops in Germany, and signing of a nonaggression pact between the North Atlantic Alliance and the Communist Warsaw Pact countries.

It also urged establishment of a central European zone free of nuclear and rocket weapons and said there were improved prospects for an end to world tensions.

Algerian Results Seen Favorable To DeGaulle

ALGIERS (AP)— Liberals and extreme rightwingers suffered defeat in Sunday's election of 32 members to the French Senate from Algeria.

The outcome, decided by about 6,000 appointed voters from conservative circles, was considered favorable for President De Gaulle's attempts to find a representative Algerian group with which to discuss an end to the 4½-year-old nationalist rebellion.

It was the first time Algerian Moslems outweighed Frenchmen in the group.

Pastor Sees Need For Higher Ideals

A return to the ideals of goodness and righteousness is needed if Memorial Day is to have any meaning, the Rev. M. Rudolph Miller told 200 at services Saturday in front of Carnegie Public Library.

The pastor of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church spoke following a parade through the business district which attracted scores of spectators.

"If Memorial Day is to have any meaning, it must be a remembrance of the ideals of goodness and righteousness for which our forefathers struggled, suffered and died," he said. "And to that remembrance must be joined the individual resolution of each one of us to defend in time of peace, as in time of war, those ideals."

America is facing two deadly threats — from without and within, Rev. Miller told the crowd.

Russia is not bluffing in its demands but poses a serious threat for America and the rest of the free world, he said. Our nation faces an even more serious problem within the country — internal moral decay, Rev. Miller said.

Although the Berlin deadline has passed and many pass off the Russian demands as a bluff, the American government realizes the seriousness of the problem he said. The 83rd Division, of which Co. A, 778th Tank Battalion, is one

Nike Commander Speaks At Wellsville Observance

A note of warning that another war would be fought against civilians was given by Lt. Col. Berrisford H. Walker of Pittsburgh in his talk at Wellsville's Memorial Day rites at Springhill Cemetery Saturday morning. About 500 attended.

The commanding officer of the 18th Artillery Group, Nike air defense unit at Pittsburgh, said: "We are facing the greatest challenge the United States ever has faced. The country is in both a cold and a hot war, with the foe waiting for us to trip ourselves. We must be alert."

In his warning he said "the next war, if there is one, will be fought against civilians. It will be horrible." He said there is a definite thread of meaning that flows through all wars, namely, to keep tyranny from our shores and to assist others in keeping their freedom.

Col. Walker said: "Thus far our freedom has been assured by those who have fallen. We must give that last measure of devotion by remembering them in our faith. We need some good old - fashioned Americanism. We are here not to dedicate their memories, but to rededicate ourselves to their mem-

West Remains Confident On West Berlin

Feels That Russians Are Still Anxious For Summit Talks

GENEVA (AP) — The Western foreign ministers still expect the Soviets to agree not to disturb the status of West Berlin despite Soviet Premier Khrushchev's declaration that he won't bargain for a settlement.

The Western delegates at the Big Four foreign ministers' conference assume that Khrushchev is still anxious for a summit conference. U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter made it clear to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko that unless the Red threat to West Berlin is lifted, President Eisenhower would not attend a summit meeting.

Khrushchev in a speech in Albania Saturday said the Western proposal to the conference for Berlin and German reunification "does not contain a single element for negotiations."

He also blasted Western determination to make concessions to the Soviets only if the Soviets come up with matching concessions.

The Western ministers nevertheless believe that in order to get agreement to hold a summit conference, Gromyko will give them firm assurance the Soviet Union will not take any action to change the status of Berlin or increase pressure on the Western powers to get out of the Communist-surrounded city.

The Western delegates expect to get this in the next 10 days or two weeks.

$8,000 Loss Seen In Fire At City Home

Cause Undetermined After Flames Sweep Rodney Stull House

An $8,000 fire swept through the first floor of a Bank St. home Sunday morning at 11:18 while the family was at church.

The blaze at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney G. Stull, 1022 Bank St., started in a small utility room at the rear of the kitchen, according to city firemen. The cause is not known.

Firemen said the blaze quickly swept through the downstairs rooms of the two-story frame house. The flames whipped out the windows and set portions of the roof afire.

The walls and all the furniture on the first floor of the seven-room home were destroyed. Heavy heat and smoke damage resulted to the furniture on the second floor, firemen said.

Mr. and Mrs. Stull and their three children were attending church services when neighbors noticed the blaze and notified firemen. Mrs. D. C. McIntyre of Ephriam St. first noticed the blaze and turned in the alarm.

A neighbor of the Stull's said the entire lower floor was in flames before the firemen arrived. Stull, a Crucible Steel Co. employe, recently had remodeled the home.

Four streams of water were used to quell the flames. Firemen laid 350 feet of 2½-inch hose and 200 feet of 1½-inch hose and used the booster lines from the trucks.

In the excitement, Clyde B. Prescott, 1012 Bank St., hurrying to move a car from the path of a fire truck, pulled too close and struck the right corner of his own home, police said.

Prescott told police he was moving a car owned by a relative, John B. Stamm, 311½ Blakeley St., when the car struck the house, damaging the sunporch.

Firemen were called to the Thorofare Market on Pennsylvania Ave., East End, Sunday at 5:45 p. m. when a neon sign shorted. The alarm was given by police.

$1,000 Blaze Damages Club In Toronto District

TORONTO — Fire caused an estimated $1,000 damage to the attic of nearby Club 7 this morning at 5:30, Toronto firemen said.

The blaze apparently was ignited from a short in a wire leading to an electric neon sign, firemen said.

It was extinguished in about 20 minutes. Club 7 is located south of the city on State Route 7.

Exploding Gas Fumes Start Cumberland Fire

NEW CUMBERLAND — Fire caused by exploding gasoline fumes caused only minor damage to a garage and station wagon of M. E. Everly Sunday afternoon at 2, firemen reported.

Mrs. Everly said her 16 - year-old son was siphoning gasoline from the station wagon for use in a truck when the blaze occured. There were no injuries.

ACCIDENT VICTIM. One of two accident victims in a headon collision early today on Dresden Ave. is placed on an ambulance cot preparatory to being taken to City Hospital with injuries. Girl, Man Injured In Dresden Mishap; Hearing Awaited

A young girl and a Pittsburgh man were injured early this morning in a headon crash on Dresden Ave. which saw the girl's father jailed on charges of drunk driving, driving without a license and driving left of center.

The crash 100 feet south of McKee St. was the most serious of three traffic accidents in the city over the Memorial Day holiday.

Lovetta Bowick, 14, and Ottoway C. Owens, 33, owner of the auto, are in "fair" condition at City Hospital. The hospital said the girl suffered possible fractures of the pelvic bones.

Izal Bill Bowick, also of Pittsburgh, was charged by police after the collision at 12:17 a. m. with a northbound car driven by Keith R. Shaw, 30, of R. D. 2,

Minister Speaks To 1,200 At Baccalaureate Service

"There's no baggage car on the train to Heaven," the 241 East Liverpool High School seniors were told Sunday night at the annual baccalaureate service in Memorial Auditorium.

Approximately 1,200, including the graduating class in blue and white caps and gowns, attended the service, at which the Rev. Russell Owens, pastor of the Grace United Presbyterian Church, delivered the sermon. His topic was "Life's Circus."

Quoting the phrase from the bulletin board of an area church, Rev. Owens told the seniors the only things that go forward with us are the service and devotion we have shown God.

He challenged the class to find the true values in life, pointing out they are not the materialistic values.

Rev. Owens pointed out the words circus, course, curriculum and circuit have much in common and used his text from Apostle Paul's reference to finishing life's course.

Life must be tied together at both ends through service to Christ and the church, he told the seniors.

Ohio closed its Memorial Day weekend with a shockingly high accidental death toll. Only one other state had as many violent deaths, and none came close to Ohio's appalling number of drownings.

Between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday, Ohio counted 36 dead, 21 in traffic accidents, 13 in drownings, and two in miscellaneous accidents. Only California had as high a death rate.

Reports coming in to the Associated Press gave early indication of a particularly violent weekend. Within 20 minutes after the weekend fatality count began at 6 p.m. Friday, the first Ohio death was recorded. By Saturday night, the toll had risen to 23, highest in the nation, and one more than the figure safety officials had predicted for the entire 54-hour holiday in Ohio.

Another 13 died Sunday, five of them in drowning accidents.

It was the highest death toll this year and higher even than last year's Memorial day toll when 27 died over a 78-hour holiday period.

The worst of the drowning accidents was in Lorain County where three brothers, 10, 13 and 14, died in the Black River where they had been wading.

Another drowning accident claimed two lives. A 19-year-old Cleveland youth drowned in Roundup Lake near Aurora in Portage County, and a 15-year-old boy died trying to save him.

Four multiple-death auto accidents claimed eight lives.

State Sen. Ray T. Miller Jr. and Senate Clerk Joseph W. Bartunek played a part in one drowning incident. The Cleveland Democrats were aboard Bartunek's cabin cruiser in Lake Erie when they saw a small boat that had capsized. They sped to the scene, pulled two men out of the water and revived them with artificial respiration. A third victim, however, drowned.

The much-publicized plastic cleaning bags proved fatal to a 4-month-old infant in Akron. She became tangled in the bag while it was being used to protect the bedclothing in her crib.

A 7-year-old Salem boy was the victim in the second miscellaneous accident. An electric shock killed him when he touched a powerline in a chicken coop at his home.

The fatalities:

Friday night

Mrs. Daisy Shanely, 82, Rt. 1, Conover (Miami County), when the car in which she was riding collided with another auto at the junction of Ohio 589 and a Shelby County road, a mile north of the Miami County line.

Hershel Coiner, 15 months, Cleveland, when his parents' car skidded on wet U.S. 42 in Strongsville and overturned.

Now Sinus Sufferers Can Drain and Clear Nasal-Sinus Cavities With New "Hard-Core" Tablet

Just One Tablet Does the Job of 3 or 4 Ordinary Tablets!

Medical research specialists acknowledge that colds, allergies and weather changes cause pressure and pain in stuffed up nasal-sinus cavities. They know, too, that headaches, nasal drip, uncomfortable breathing and all the other sinus symptoms can be relieved by draining and clearing the nasal-sinus passages.

Now, a new tablet is available with an exclusive formula that acts instantly and continuously to drain and clear your nasal-sinus passages. One tablet, with its new "hard-core" process does the job of 3 or 4 ordinary tablets. The coated layer surrounding the "hard-core" dissolves first, placing its soothing medication in the blood canals, where it is instantly carried to the pained, pressure congested area. Congestive pressures are reduced almost immediately—and the exclusive "hard-core" process takes over. It dissolves the tablet slowly and continuously for periods of up to 8 hours, feeding soothing medication to formerly congested areas—and allows you to continue to breathe easily for extended periods of time.

This new tablet, called SYNA-CLEAR, is now available at BLOOR'S — without need for a prescription. It contains not one, but a combination of the same type medically proven decongestant ingredients doctors prescribe to help shrink swollen, irritated membranes and promote drainage of nasal-sinus cavities. Buy and use SYNA-CLEAR Decongestant Tablets with the absolute money-back guarantee that they will relieve pained, pressure congested sinus areas, or your purchase price will be refunded by the maker.

As has become customary in all such matters, we'll take our missileers word for it that a gigantic break-through into the space age was made when a nose cone containing two monkeys was fished out of the ocean after being hurled through the atmosphere at a speed of 10,000 miles an hour, reaching an altitude of some 300 miles.

The important thing is, of course, that the monkeys survived the experience. Though the experience lasted only an hour and a-half, as against the week or more that the Russian dog survived the spinning and turning of an earth satellite at a speed of nearly 18,000 miles an hour at an altitude of better than a thousand miles, the monkeys came back alive.

The trouble is, they have no comment. They did not know where they were going, how they got there, what it was like to be there, or how they came back. Physiologically, they bear certain similarities to humans, to be sure. But in the one respect that matters profoundly, there is no similarity at all.

They lack imagination. They do not know enough to be afraid. Nevertheless, we'll take the U.S. missileers word for it that a gigantic break-through into the space age has been made.

THERE IS NO choice but to take their word for it. Their word was being taken for it in 1957 when the Soviet Union made the United States look silly with satellites launched by rockets so far ahead of anything so far dreamed of here that militarists and politicians had no choice but to blame school teachers for not telling them what Russian children had been learning.

To this day, the United States has nothing in existence and may not even have anything on the drawing boards to approach the range and thrust of Russian rockets. Yet, oddly, nothing is being heard lately about Russian rockets, leading Americans to hope that no news is better than more bad news.

There is no chance they are going to be right about this. That is not the way the Russian mind works, nor the Communist mind.

THE SOVIET UNION'S long lead in missile development — so long, in fact, that the secret may be propulsion by atomic fusion —does not mean its missileers are sitting on their hands waiting for the huffing and puffing Americans to catch up.

It means, rather, that in a country where everything is done with a view to its political impact, Russian missile development is going forward to the next major goal, which might be an announcement by Premier Khrushchev at a summit conference — some sort of delayed rebuttal to the announcement by Harry Truman at Potsdam in 1945 that the United States had developed an atomic bomb.

That had been a well guarded secret, too, though it turned out later that Joseph Stalin was not so surprised as he would have been if his spies hadn't been busy.

A New Gym

It can be with justifiable pride that Lincoln High School's new gymnasium building is dedicated tonight at Midland.

A spacious gymnasium will be a thing of joy after confinement for years in quarters too cramped for players and spectators alike.

We at East Liverpool speak from experience, having suffered through the same situation for too long a time ourselves.

Lincoln High students have had outstanding records over the years both atheletically and scholastically. The new building will fit in well with the progressive educational program of which all Midland can be proud.

Achilles Heel Of Racketeering

Indictment of 15 men last week in connection with juke-box racketeering on Long Island is further evidenced of a new, imaginative and potentially successful campaign against organized crime in this country.

It is entirely incidental that one of those indicted was a high official of the Teamsters Union. It was not for being a unionist that he was indicted. He was indicted because of evidence that convinced a grand jury he had been involved in something that would have been used as bad if he had not been a unionist at all.

This is the new tack law-enforcement officials are being encouraged to take in what could develop into a massive campaign to clip the wings of the high-flying organizers of crime in the United States.

ALL THEY NEED to do is enforce existing laws as aggressively and equitably against powerful malefactors as they enforce it against the weak and helpless. They need to return to the spirit of the drive to cut down Al Capone and his hoodlums in the '20s, when these powerful malefactors boasted with good cause that they could not be touched because they controlled mayors, governors, prosecutors and judges.

They did not control the U.S. Treasury, fortunately, which proceeded to rack them up on charges of evading their income taxes as handily as if they had been ordinary tax evaders.

Racketeers always violate the law; otherwise, they would not be racketeers. Once it has been established that they are in fact racketeers, moreover, they are racketeers regardless of what they may call themselves—businessmen, union organizers, or playboys.

They are racketeers regardless of the eminence of the legal counsel they can afford to hire, the propaganda they can grind out, the politicians they can intimidate and the votes they can influence in elections.

IT HAS BEEN pointed out for many years that the best solution to the problem of organized crime is simple law enforcement—tireless harassment of the lawless wherever they are found.

There is no such thing as an honest racketeer or a clean hoodlum. The essence of what they believe and what they do is to break the rules of the game to gain unfair advantage.

They are experts in terrorism and corruption. They are ruthless and shrewd. They are firmly entrenched, having had the advantage of many years of hands-off freedom to do as they please.

But if a massive movement to dig them out ever gets going, under courageous leadership, such as could be provided at all levels of government if it became the popular thing to do, they could be exterminated in no more time than it would take their legal counsels to use up all the appeals at their command—about a year.

Local History

There is an increasing awareness of the importance of local history and the interesting lessons it may hold for the future.

Recently, a Columbiana County Historical Association was formed and now organization of an historical society is being considered seriously at Salineville.

A more united effort and the channeling of historical data into appropriate channels will be the result.

As a comparatively young nation, America—moving ahead rapidly and looking primarily to the future—had a tendency to overlook its rich and glorious past. With a sense of maturity, however, the trend of thought has changed and the U.S. seems more and more inclined to show a concern and respect for history.

The trend is a welcome one and it is encouraging to see the East Liverpool district keeping in step.

My Lovin' Mary-Nan

By Frank Tripp

The Mary-Nan II is 30 years old this year. She's a boat; a family cruiser that is serving a fourth generation. She has been loved and pampered almost as much as our children who grew up with her.

She has outlived countless craft that have come to rugged Seneca in her day; come and gone, some to Davy Jones' locker, because they were "only boats" to those who owned them—and abused them.

Seeing this happen so often almost roused me into promoting a national society of reverent skippers, the SPCB—Society for the prevention of Cruelty to Boats.

A skipper worthy to own a good boat is as fond of it, and as kind to it, as to his dog. He honors it, that its days may be long, its service dependable, it task happy, its old age serene.

Now Bob readies her for another summer's pleasure; her proud prow pointing to more days and weeks of relaxation and joy for those who already owe her so much. She's Bob's boat now.

Some folks buy boats only because they have the dough and it's fashionable, makes land lubbers envy them. These never become true skippers or worthy devotees of a challenging and rewarding diversion. They discredit the vast majority who really love their boats.

It could be that the Mary-Nan got her earliest affection because she was my last "foolish" investment before the financial crash of 1929, when the country's worst depression settled upon us.

I sailed her home in June. By November I needed the cash she cost (and it wasn't hay), much more than a Matthews cruiser to be expensively stowed away for winter.

Even had there been anyone to take her off my hands, I would not have parted with her. Already, I loved her too much. She seems to have been thanking me ever since.

PEOPLE CAN part with houses and cars for newer and better ones without sentiment or regret. As fancier boats appeared over the last 30 years, often I have been tempted. Except that our kids would no more part with Mary-Nan than I would part with Cokey.

For the grand old girl is more that a boat to us. She is the symbol of a family's happy days afloat, that started with sacrifice to keep her.

Our two girls whose names she bears, as did her predecessor, now are mothers of our seven grandchildren and we have three great grands. All 12 of them have grown up with Mary-Nan II. Part with her? We'd go barefoot first.

The old girl's face has oft been lifted. She has aimed to stay in fashion like any grande dame. Her haughty head is high. Her heart is strong. Her lines are not so modern but she will shame any rock 'n' roller in the roughest inland waters; and brother we get some beauts.

Why all this just about a boat? Maybe I love all boats because my forebears were Maine shipbuilders.

But I best love the Mary-Nan because so much of our family is in her; because she was hard to come by, hard to hang onto, and was groomed by my once younger hands and tender treatment.

World On A String?

'Where Will It Stop?' Industry Asks

By Victor Riesel

MILWAUKEE

Here in the land of the beer and the home of the Braves, the warmth of the city is tinged by the bitterness of Walter Reuther's five-year strike against the Kohler Co. — easily a $15,000,000 showdown. Though this struggle over at Sheboygan has slipped from the public prints, it is still being watched carefully by the experts. A year ago it was the lone showdown. Today there are several other marathon strikes across the country. I haven't talked to the heads of all the 125,000 companies which sign union contracts, but it seems as though I have on this trip and other recent excursions.

Victor Riesel

I HEARD that what was the isolated industrial battle of last year will be but one of hundreds of such conflicts in the next 12 months.

War between labor and management is coming, unless both sides can sit down soon and agree. That's the big story looming on the home front.

Issues will vary like Heinz's pickles. But strikes are strikes. In search of what the businessmen see as the most basic of issues, I spoke to an executive who makes a religion of reason— Ed Cushman, vice president of American Motors. His philosophy never rambles. Cushman, who sees part of the solution in a labor-management summit conference called and guided by leading Protestant-Catholic and Jewish clergymen, put it this way:

"In my judgment, unions have not clearly defined their role in our society. Nor have they indicated the limits to which they are willing to restrict themselves. The areas of collective bargaining have expanded rapidly. They are still expanding. In the past union representatives have refused to spell out the boundaries of the long-range objectives of organized labor.

"Another issue that management people have raised with me in our discussions on this subject has been that there are important union leaders who apparently believe in a class struggle of some description.

"How can you expect management to welcome with open arms the union leader who insists on characterizing management as the would-be exploiter of the workers whose insatiable desire to work his employes at starvation wages and with work loads injurious to health and safety is kept in check only by militant union power?"

CUSHING MADE the point that management people aren't monsters. He also said that it is just as wrong for industrialists to speak of their opponents as ogres.

But, regardless of the language batted around like balls over at the Braves' park, management wants to know where it is going. That's why the bargaining is tougher on the steel front, in coal, textile, rubber, aircraft and outerspace equipment production, oil, chemical and a score of other industries.

Most dramatic of these struggles will be the one about to hit the railroads. Over in Chicago the other day, some of the rail union men were preparing demands to break the three-year moratorium on wage increases.

But what provokes industrialists most are some statistics released by the unions themselves. The Auto Union, led by Reuther, has reported that some $40 a week has been added to the average Auto Worker's pay in the past 10 years—to meet the cost of living and match increased productivity. This $40 was in addition to other benefits.

There is similar news from Dave McDonald's steel union. Since 1953, when McDonald took over, each steelworker's wages and benefits have increased by a total of about $40 a week. There are billions more in the pay envelopes of the other big industries.

The businessmen don't want to bust any unions. They want to know when it's going to stop. To get that answer they're ready to take some mighty long strikes.

Harvey Haddix Knows

By Truman Twill

There's one thing Harvey Haddix should know while he is might-have-beening about losing the longest perfectly pitched game in baseball — 12 innings without a hit.

What made a 13th inning defeat extra tough to take was the fact Harvey had piled up those hitless innings against the Milwaukee Braves, powerhouse of the National League. Harvey? He's with Pittsburgh.

This is what he should know:

That mostly it turns out this way.

The best thing you ever did in your life you never got any credit for because you did it at the wrong time, under the wrong auspices, to the wrong person, or the ball bounced funny at the last minute.

The one chance you ever had to get your name in the record books along with the immortals was fluffed because something happened that could not have been foreseen — something that was no fault of your own but that cheated you out of the credit all men aspire to receive for their best efforts.

The closest you ever came to hitting the jackpot in your racket was not close enough to dump the money into your lap because someone else was standing in front of you with a hat, ready to catch the windfall.

The finest hour you ever lived—the hour when you could do nothing wrong — was turned into a nightmare because at the last tick of the clock something went wrong in spite of you.

The longest run of luck you ever had — long enough to see you through any ordinary situation — was not long enough to see you through the extraordinary situation that ensued when you least expected it.

When all it takes is nine perfectly pitched innings to become an immortal under ordinary circumstances, it suddenly takes 13 or more the day you are within reaching distance of immortality.

The one time in your life when everything is coming your way, it stumbles on the bottom step and falls flat on its face in its anxiety to cover the distance.

When you have the world by the tail on a downhill drag, what happens? The tail pulls off and leaves you standing there.

When you have done half again as much as anyone else ever was expected to do, you get thumbed out because you couldn't do even more.

On the one occasion in your career when you are caught outside in a soup storm, you can't even find a fork.

After you have been shot into outer space and returned safely, you sprain your ankle on a wet spot in the washroom.

That's what Harvey Haddix should know while he is learning to live with the realization that he was cheated out of fame and fortune after pitching one perfect game and a third of another because it was his rotten, dirty, lousy luck to do it on a day when his teammates couldn't put together enough runs to wrap it up for him in nine innings.

And if he still wakes up screaming a couple years from now, he should know he has joined the world's largest cappela choir of human beings who sing out in pain whenever they, too, think of the rotten, dirty, lousy luck that once did them out of a good thing.

A Noisy Little War

By Roy Essoyan

MACAO

Children barely old enough to read—but not too young to shout and sing—are the soldiers in a psychological war between communism and democracy in this tiny Portuguese colony in the shadow of Red China.

Across the fence from Santa Teresa is the Communist-run "Green Island Free School," one of several Red schools allowed to operate in Macao.

Santa Teresa struck back. It weeded out the infiltrators. Plucking a page from the Communists' book, Wong set up a public address system of his own, booming anti-Communist propaganda back across the fence.

Children from each school join in rousing political songs which the loudspeakers blare back and forth across the fence.

It's easy to keep score on who is winning.

At the start each school had a few hundred students. The Communists made some initial gain, but once Santa Teresa's loudspeaker system got going the tide turned.

The score today: 1,053 students at Santa Teresa, about 400 at the Communist school.

A Traveling Man

By James Marlow

Nixon Is Acting Like A Campaigner

WASHINGTON

Richard M. Nixon, who wants to go places, is getting a lot of mileage out of the vice presidency, and not just in distance traveled.

True, he's traveled a lot—more than 280,000 miles since he took office in 1953. Although this is much less than the 560,000 miles logged by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Nixon visited more countries: 54 to Dulles' 46.

In July, thanks to President Eisenhower's determination to make good use of his vice president, Nixon will chalk up another 10,000 miles when he goes to Moscow to open an American fair.

These trips have been good for Nixon politically, since they keep him in the public eye. None so far may have been so important for him as the trip to the Soviet Union may be.

There if he talks with Premier Nikita Khrushchev and comes away looking good from the American viewpoint, so much the better for him. He can hardly lose. Khrushchev wants a summit meeting with Eisenhower. He is not likely to jeopardize it by giving Nixon a hard time.

If Nixon has a hand in arranging the summit meeting expected late this summer, that's more political gravy.

If anyone doubts Nixon is aiming at the Republican presidential nomination in 1960, all he needs to do is remember that Nixon last month added a veteran political campaigner to his staff: Herbert B. Klein, editor of the San Diego (Calif.) Union.

Klein will be Nixon's special assistant in charge of press relations — he was an assistant to him in the 1956 campaign for his re-election and in the 1958 congressional campaigns — and will accompany him to Moscow. He is understood to have signed up with Nixon through the 1960 campaign.

Through his Moscow trip, and no doubt others to follow, Nixon should be able for many months to stay in the spotlight better than the man considered his closest rival for the presidential nomination: New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

Nixon could ruin himself on his international trips if he made any slips. But he is careful and conservative, as he knows he has to be, since he is in a secondary position now and directly answerable to Eisenhower for what he says and does.

Even a disastrous trip turned out all right for Nixon. This was his journey last year to Latin America where he was stoned and spat upon. It brought him a lot of public sympathy, and no criticism except for making the journey in the first place. The State Department was blamed for that, at least for not knowing Nixon might get that treatment because of anti-American feeling there.

This country recognized that what happened to the vice president was not aimed at him personally but was a reaction to American policies in Latin America.

When Dignity Exploded

By Duane E. Croft

COLUMBUS

"Peanuts! Popcorn! — Get your scorecards here!"

Think you're out at the ball game?

Sound unbelieveable?

Right! But no more unbelievable than it seemed to the people who were there last Wednesday night when the dignity of the upper chamber of the 103rd Ohio General Assembly exploded into black bedlam in about three minutes flat.

THE SCENE opened calmly enough, despite the preceding eight-hour wait while the Democratic leadership tried to decide what to do about its embarrassing shortage of votes for the tax measure it had scheduled for passage that day. The bill would have raised taxes on Ohio corporations.

The lieutenant governor called the chamber to attention and the chaplain offered his prayer, obviously rewritten to fit the pent-up tensions of the situation.

Hardly were the senators and the visitors back in their seats before a Republican member was lighting the fuse that almost instantaneously would burn down to the dynamite.

He moved to force the Democrats to keep the tax bill on the calendar. The chair ruled him out of order. He appealed from the ruling and several of his colleagues shouted for a vote on the appeal.

THAT WAS just the beginning of the shouting.

Amid the yells of "roll call" and "appeal," the Democratic leader rose and shouted a motion to adjourn.

Banging the gavel until its wood block bounced on the rostrum, the president shouted that he heard no objection and the session WAS adjourned.

As he and the clerks on the rostrum's lower level raced for the nearest exit, a Republican took the chair and called out that a "rump session" was convened.

He and some of his colleagues shouted a series of formalities intended to elect the minority leader as president pro tem.

At that point the lights went out and the din mounted — if that was possible.

Following orders, the sergeant-at-arms went through the darkened galleries, yelling at the visitors to clear out.

From the sidelines jokesters' shouts of "peanuts, popcorn, scorecards," pierced the darkness. On the marble steps of the rostrom, a senator exploded toy pistol caps with a pair of scissors, making every heart present skip a beat.

Reporters began milling around looking for someone of authority who wasn't shouting so they could "get the background" on the incredible developments. They tried to take notes with the aid of cigarette lighters, but notes weren't really much good in a situation like that.

COMMENTED one reporter: "I feel like I'm back home again. I used to cover the Kentucky Legislature."

Just as the general confusion began to subside new shouting arose in the "well" near the rear door. At least one GOP senator and several newsmen were resisting the sergeant-at-arms' efforts to throw them out with the visitors.

When the lights finally were turned on again, the chaplain was wandering about the chamber with a look on his face that indicated a severe state of shock. Only a few moments before he had prayed that his charges would be guided by "straight thinking and pure hearts."

(A substitute minister appeared for him at the next morning's session. Observers speculated on whether the chaplain had given up his Senate post or the ministry).

"WASN'T the whole scene a sad example of democracy?" someone asked.

Replied the governor, trying to find some consolation: "What other kind of government could it happen in?"

Commented a sober member of the House of Representatives: "It would be funny if it weren't so serious."

She has outlived countless craft that have come to rugged Seneca in her day; come and gone, some to Davy Jones' locker, because they were "only boats" to those who owned them—and abused them.

Seeing this happen so often almost roused me into promoting a national society of reverent skippers, the SPCB—Society for the prevention of Cruelty to Boats.

A skipper worthy to own a good boat is as fond of it, and as kind to it, as to his dog. He honors it, that its days may be long, its service dependable, it task happy, its old age serene.

Now Bob readies her for another summer's pleasure; her proud prow pointing to more days and weeks of relaxation and joy for those who already owe her so much. She's Bob's boat now.

Some folks buy boats only because they have the dough and it's fashionable, makes land lubbers envy them. These never become true skippers or worthy devotees of a challenging and rewarding diversion. They discredit the vast majority who really love their boats.

It could be that the Mary-Nan got her earliest affection because she was my last "foolish" investment before the financial crash of 1929, when the country's worst depression settled upon us.

I sailed her home in June. By November I needed the cash she cost (and it wasn't hay), much more than a Matthews cruiser to be expensively stowed away for winter.

Even had there been anyone to take her off my hands, I would not have parted with her. Already, I loved her too much. She seems to have been thanking me ever since.

PEOPLE CAN part with houses and cars for newer and better ones without sentiment or regret. As fancier boats appeared over the last 30 years, often I have been tempted. Except that our kids would no more part with Mary-Nan than I would part with Cokey.

For the grand old girl is more that a boat to us. She is the symbol of a family's happy days afloat, that started with sacrifice to keep her.

Our two girls whose names she bears, as did her predecessor, now are mothers of our seven grandchildren and we have three great grands. All 12 of them have grown up with Mary-Nan II. Part with her? We'd go barefoot first.

The old girl's face has oft been lifted. She has aimed to stay in fashion like any grande dame. Her haughty head is high. Her heart is strong. Her lines are not so modern but she will shame any rock 'n' roller in the roughest inland waters; and brother we get some beauts.

Why all this just about a boat? Maybe I love all boats because my forebears were Maine shipbuilders.

But I best love the Mary-Nan because so much of our family is in her; because she was hard to come by, hard to hang onto, and was groomed by my once younger hands and tender treatment.

World On A String?

'Where Will It Stop?' Industry Asks

By Victor Riesel

MILWAUKEE

Here in the land of the beer and the home of the Braves, the warmth of the city is tinged by the bitterness of Walter Reuther's five-year strike against the Kohler Co. — easily a $15,000,000 showdown. Though this struggle over at Sheboygan has slipped from the public prints, it is still being watched carefully by the experts. A year ago it was the lone showdown. Today there are several other marathon strikes across the country. I haven't talked to the heads of all the 125,000 companies which sign union contracts, but it seems as though I have on this trip and other recent excursions.

Victor Riesel

I HEARD that what was the isolated industrial battle of last year will be but one of hundreds of such conflicts in the next 12 months.

War between labor and management is coming, unless both sides can sit down soon and agree. That's the big story looming on the home front.

Issues will vary like Heinz's pickles. But strikes are strikes. In search of what the businessmen see as the most basic of issues, I spoke to an executive who makes a religion of reason— Ed Cushman, vice president of American Motors. His philosophy never rambles. Cushman, who sees part of the solution in a labor-management summit conference called and guided by leading Protestant-Catholic and Jewish clergymen, put it this way:

"In my judgment, unions have not clearly defined their role in our society. Nor have they indicated the limits to which they are willing to restrict themselves. The areas of collective bargaining have expanded rapidly. They are still expanding. In the past union representatives have refused to spell out the boundaries of the long-range objectives of organized labor.

"Another issue that management people have raised with me in our discussions on this subject has been that there are important union leaders who apparently believe in a class struggle of some description.

"How can you expect management to welcome with open arms the union leader who insists on characterizing management as the would-be exploiter of the workers whose insatiable desire to work his employes at starvation wages and with work loads injurious to health and safety is kept in check only by militant union power?"

CUSHING MADE the point that management people aren't monsters. He also said that it is just as wrong for industrialists to speak of their opponents as ogres.

But, regardless of the language batted around like balls over at the Braves' park, management wants to know where it is going. That's why the bargaining is tougher on the steel front, in coal, textile, rubber, aircraft and outerspace equipment production, oil, chemical and a score of other industries.

Most dramatic of these struggles will be the one about to hit the railroads. Over in Chicago the other day, some of the rail union men were preparing demands to break the three-year moratorium on wage increases.

But what provokes industrialists most are some statistics released by the unions themselves. The Auto Union, led by Reuther, has reported that some $40 a week has been added to the average Auto Worker's pay in the past 10 years—to meet the cost of living and match increased productivity. This $40 was in addition to other benefits.

There is similar news from Dave McDonald's steel union. Since 1953, when McDonald took over, each steelworker's wages and benefits have increased by a total of about $40 a week. There are billions more in the pay envelopes of the other big industries.

The businessmen don't want to bust any unions. They want to know when it's going to stop. To get that answer they're ready to take some mighty long strikes.

Harvey Haddix Knows

By Truman Twill

There's one thing Harvey Haddix should know while he is might-have-beening about losing the longest perfectly pitched game in baseball — 12 innings without a hit.

What made a 13th inning defeat extra tough to take was the fact Harvey had piled up those hitless innings against the Milwaukee Braves, powerhouse of the National League. Harvey? He's with Pittsburgh.

This is what he should know:

That mostly it turns out this way.

The best thing you ever did in your life you never got any credit for because you did it at the wrong time, under the wrong auspices, to the wrong person, or the ball bounced funny at the last minute.

The one chance you ever had to get your name in the record books along with the immortals was fluffed because something happened that could not have been foreseen — something that was no fault of your own but that cheated you out of the credit all men aspire to receive for their best efforts.

The closest you ever came to hitting the jackpot in your racket was not close enough to dump the money into your lap because someone else was standing in front of you with a hat, ready to catch the windfall.

The finest hour you ever lived—the hour when you could do nothing wrong — was turned into a nightmare because at the last tick of the clock something went wrong in spite of you.

The longest run of luck you ever had — long enough to see you through any ordinary situation — was not long enough to see you through the extraordinary situation that ensued when you least expected it.

When all it takes is nine perfectly pitched innings to become an immortal under ordinary circumstances, it suddenly takes 13 or more the day you are within reaching distance of immortality.

The one time in your life when everything is coming your way, it stumbles on the bottom step and falls flat on its face in its anxiety to cover the distance.

When you have the world by the tail on a downhill drag, what happens? The tail pulls off and leaves you standing there.

When you have done half again as much as anyone else ever was expected to do, you get thumbed out because you couldn't do even more.

On the one occasion in your career when you are caught outside in a soup storm, you can't even find a fork.

After you have been shot into outer space and returned safely, you sprain your ankle on a wet spot in the washroom.

That's what Harvey Haddix should know while he is learning to live with the realization that he was cheated out of fame and fortune after pitching one perfect game and a third of another because it was his rotten, dirty, lousy luck to do it on a day when his teammates couldn't put together enough runs to wrap it up for him in nine innings.

And if he still wakes up screaming a couple years from now, he should know he has joined the world's largest cappela choir of human beings who sing out in pain whenever they, too, think of the rotten, dirty, lousy luck that once did them out of a good thing.

A Noisy Little War

By Roy Essoyan

MACAO

Children barely old enough to read—but not too young to shout and sing—are the soldiers in a psychological war between communism and democracy in this tiny Portuguese colony in the shadow of Red China.

Across the fence from Santa Teresa is the Communist-run "Green Island Free School," one of several Red schools allowed to operate in Macao.

Santa Teresa struck back. It weeded out the infiltrators. Plucking a page from the Communists' book, Wong set up a public address system of his own, booming anti-Communist propaganda back across the fence.

Children from each school join in rousing political songs which the loudspeakers blare back and forth across the fence.

It's easy to keep score on who is winning.

At the start each school had a few hundred students. The Communists made some initial gain, but once Santa Teresa's loudspeaker system got going the tide turned.

The score today: 1,053 students at Santa Teresa, about 400 at the Communist school.

A Traveling Man

By James Marlow

Nixon Is Acting Like A Campaigner

WASHINGTON

Richard M. Nixon, who wants to go places, is getting a lot of mileage out of the vice presidency, and not just in distance traveled.

True, he's traveled a lot—more than 280,000 miles since he took office in 1953. Although this is much less than the 560,000 miles logged by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Nixon visited more countries: 54 to Dulles' 46.

In July, thanks to President Eisenhower's determination to make good use of his vice president, Nixon will chalk up another 10,000 miles when he goes to Moscow to open an American fair.

These trips have been good for Nixon politically, since they keep him in the public eye. None so far may have been so important for him as the trip to the Soviet Union may be.

There if he talks with Premier Nikita Khrushchev and comes away looking good from the American viewpoint, so much the better for him. He can hardly lose. Khrushchev wants a summit meeting with Eisenhower. He is not likely to jeopardize it by giving Nixon a hard time.

If Nixon has a hand in arranging the summit meeting expected late this summer, that's more political gravy.

If anyone doubts Nixon is aiming at the Republican presidential nomination in 1960, all he needs to do is remember that Nixon last month added a veteran political campaigner to his staff: Herbert B. Klein, editor of the San Diego (Calif.) Union.

Klein will be Nixon's special assistant in charge of press relations — he was an assistant to him in the 1956 campaign for his re-election and in the 1958 congressional campaigns — and will accompany him to Moscow. He is understood to have signed up with Nixon through the 1960 campaign.

Through his Moscow trip, and no doubt others to follow, Nixon should be able for many months to stay in the spotlight better than the man considered his closest rival for the presidential nomination: New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

Nixon could ruin himself on his international trips if he made any slips. But he is careful and conservative, as he knows he has to be, since he is in a secondary position now and directly answerable to Eisenhower for what he says and does.

Even a disastrous trip turned out all right for Nixon. This was his journey last year to Latin America where he was stoned and spat upon. It brought him a lot of public sympathy, and no criticism except for making the journey in the first place. The State Department was blamed for that, at least for not knowing Nixon might get that treatment because of anti-American feeling there.

This country recognized that what happened to the vice president was not aimed at him personally but was a reaction to American policies in Latin America.

When Dignity Exploded

COLUMBUS

"Peanuts! Popcorn! — Get your scorecards here!"

Think you're out at the ball game?

Sound unbelieveable?

Right! But no more unbelievable than it seemed to the people who were there last Wednesday night when the dignity of the upper chamber of the 103rd Ohio General Assembly exploded into black bedlam in about three minutes flat.

THE SCENE opened calmly enough, despite the preceding eight-hour wait while the Democratic leadership tried to decide what to do about its embarrassing shortage of votes for the tax measure it had scheduled for passage that day. The bill would have raised taxes on Ohio corporations.

The lieutenant governor called the chamber to attention and the chaplain offered his prayer, obviously rewritten to fit the pent-up tensions of the situation.

Hardly were the senators and the visitors back in their seats before a Republican member was lighting the fuse that almost instantaneously would burn down to the dynamite.

He moved to force the Democrats to keep the tax bill on the calendar. The chair ruled him out of order. He appealed from the ruling and several of his colleagues shouted for a vote on the appeal.

THAT WAS just the beginning of the shouting.

Amid the yells of "roll call" and "appeal," the Democratic leader rose and shouted a motion to adjourn.

Banging the gavel until its wood block bounced on the rostrum, the president shouted that he heard no objection and the session WAS adjourned.

As he and the clerks on the rostrum's lower level raced for the nearest exit, a Republican took the chair and called out that a "rump session" was convened.

He and some of his colleagues shouted a series of formalities intended to elect the minority leader as president pro tem.

At that point the lights went out and the din mounted — if that was possible.

Following orders, the sergeant-at-arms went through the darkened galleries, yelling at the visitors to clear out.

From the sidelines jokesters' shouts of "peanuts, popcorn, scorecards," pierced the darkness. On the marble steps of the rostrom, a senator exploded toy pistol caps with a pair of scissors, making every heart present skip a beat.

Reporters began milling around looking for someone of authority who wasn't shouting so they could "get the background" on the incredible developments. They tried to take notes with the aid of cigarette lighters, but notes weren't really much good in a situation like that.

COMMENTED one reporter: "I feel like I'm back home again. I used to cover the Kentucky Legislature."

Just as the general confusion began to subside new shouting arose in the "well" near the rear door. At least one GOP senator and several newsmen were resisting the sergeant-at-arms' efforts to throw them out with the visitors.

When the lights finally were turned on again, the chaplain was wandering about the chamber with a look on his face that indicated a severe state of shock. Only a few moments before he had prayed that his charges would be guided by "straight thinking and pure hearts."

(A substitute minister appeared for him at the next morning's session. Observers speculated on whether the chaplain had given up his Senate post or the ministry).

"WASN'T the whole scene a sad example of democracy?" someone asked.

Replied the governor, trying to find some consolation: "What other kind of government could it happen in?"

Commented a sober member of the House of Representatives: "It would be funny if it weren't so serious."

Drivers Await Hearings For Traffic Cases

A heavy docket, comprised chiefly of traffic arrests by city police and the State Highway Patrol over the Memorial Day weekend, awaits Judge George L. Brokaw in Municipal Court Tuesday morning.

No court was held this morning because Judge Brokaw was attending the graduation of his granddaughter from Marietta College, his alma mater.

Nine of the 11 motorists posted bonds totaling $206 for hearings tomorrow on a variety of charges. In addition, three other motorists also are due for hearings, including a Pittsburgh motorist arrested on three charges after a crash early today on Dresden Ave.

The motorists, the bonds they posted, charges and time of arrest are:

David F. Beatty, 1936 Michigan Ave., $47 for speeding and driving without an operator's permit Saturday morning on Pennsylvania Ave.

James F. Matheny of S. Shady Ln., $11 for crashing a traffic signal at Market and 4th Sts. Friday afternoon.

Worthy L. Bower of Youngstown, $16 for passing on a curve Sunday on Route 30.

Lawrence H. Cross of Akron, $16 for passing over a yellow line Friday night on Route 30.

Morilli W. Vitalune of Thompson Ave., $11 for failing to yield the right - of - way Friday night on Route 30.

Joseph Pezl of Tiltonsville, $16 for passing at an intersection Friday night on Route 7.

Brian P. Kiernan, 613 W. 9th St., $11 for crashing a traffic signal Saturday night at Pennsylvania and Oakland Aves.

Robert McLaughlin, 907 Oak St., $16 for speeding on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." Saturday morning.

George L. Talbott of Park Pl. is due to appear on a reckless driving charge filed by Liverpool Township Constable C. H. Owens as the result of a collision on Shadyside Ave. Sunday with a car driven by Albert Persinger.

Gerald E. Garner of Massillon also is scheduled for a hearing on a charge of passing over a double yellow line on Dresden Ave. Sunday morning.

Franklin D. Hanlon of Shadyside Ave. posted bonds totaling $62 on charges of using illegal license plates and resisting arrest. His counsel, Atty. W. S. Foulks, asked a continuance until Friday.

Carl Lee Baker, 18, of Logan St., is due for hearings on charges of fighting and resisting arrest.

Police said Hanlon spotted Lt. Mike Winters and pulled Baker away from a man he was fighting early Saturday on E. 3rd St. and the pair fled in Hanlon's car. The two were arrested later by Patrolman Paul Burson Jr.

by The Associated Press in a test period survey for a non-holiday weekend of 54 hours. The survey, covering the period from 6 p.m. Friday May 15, to midnight Sunday, May 17, also showed 32 drownings and 74 persons killed in miscellaneous types of accidents, for an over-all total of 368.

There were several multiple-death auto crashes. In one of the worst, a mother and four of her five children were killed Sunday when the family car was hit by a Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train at a rural crossing near Crown Point, Ind.

The National Safety Council had predicted a traffic death toll of 260. It termed the record total for the two-day holiday "tragic."

The highways were jammed with cars — the council had estimated 40 million for the two-day period — in the first holiday weekend of the season.

Stanton Local Awaits 3rd Vote Tuesday On School Bond Issue

Voters in the Stanton Local School District will ballot Tuesday on a $498,000 bond issue for construction of a new elementary school and installation of inside toilet facilities in another building.

Polling places in the district's eight precincts will be open from 7:30 a. m. to 7:30 p. m. (DST).

It is the third election in less than a year on the bond issue, which will require a 60 per cent affirmative vote for passage.

"The bond issue is for the purpose of constructing a new consolidated building in the Empire-Stratton area and for installing inside toilets in the Hammondsville elementary school.

"The new building will replace the Empire and Stratton buildings, which do not meet the minimum state standards that will become effective Sept. 1, 1959, and the Port Homer building, which will be ruined by the relocation of State Route 7, which is scheduled for construction early in 1961.

"School officials have been warned that if the building problem is not solved and brought up to standard they can look to dissolution of the district."

The proposed building would be a 10 classroom structure, one story, with a multi - purpose room (auditorium and gymnasium combined), cafeteria, music room, toilets, showers and offices.

It would serve 300 students, but is designed so that it can be enlarged if conditions should ever justify it, the board said. The building in Hammondsville is the only school building in Jefferson County that does not have inside toilet facilities, the board added.

Memorial

unit. was being considered for activation to meet the danger, the minister asserted.

Russian and Chinese communism pose the threat of atheism, totalitarianism and cruelty, he said.

But the threat of internal moral decay is more serious because it is not recognized and could destroy us eventually without making it necessary for the communists to use their economic and military power, he continued.

As examples of moral decay, Rev. Miller pointed out crime has increased 4½ times as fast as the population since 1950, swindling and cheating are on the rise, ranging from petty thefts from companies by employes to enormous amounts in kickbacks, payoffs and bribes.

There's also the disregard of the law "by the so - called respectable people," the low aims and ideals of many, the break up of homes, and a general disregard for authority and responsibility, Rev. Miller added.

The defense against moral decay is a renewed respect for the law of land and of the community, self discipline for the development and control of ourselves to do a better job of living, and a return to a true religious faith expressed by a reverence for God and a loving consideration of the rights of others, Rev. Miller concluded.

Rev. Miller, who also pronounced the invocation and benediction, was introduced by Mayor Fred P. Lawrence, master of ceremonies.

The program also included the national anthem by the East Liverpool High School band directed by Donald C. Allen; the pledge of allegiance led by Postmaster Samuel W. Brown, a major in the Army Reserve; the Gettysburg address by Miss Marsha Franklin, an ELHS junior; a selection by the Salvation Army band directed by M. H. Clark, and a solo, "My Buddy," by Ernest Lowe.

Two presentations were made during the ceremonies.

T-Sgt. Jack T. Hanson, 1055 Rubicon St., was presented with a retirement certificate from the 766th Infantry Company by Capt. John R. Dopler of Steubenville, former East Liverpool resident. Sgt. Hanson retired April 1 after 25 years active duty in the Marines and 8 years in the Fleet Marine Reserve.

Capt. Al Sayre of the national championship VFW Post 66 drill team was presented with the Charles Stull Memorial Trophy by Louis Krawiec, general chairman of the Joint Memorial Day Committee. No drill team competition was held.

The parade, which included veterans' organizations, Gold Star Mothers, Ladies of the GAR, Navy Mothers, Post 66 drill team, a Marine Reserve unit and bands, paused at City Hall while a wreath was placed at the city's honor roll board.

The wreath was placed by Walter Green, 1959 Ohio Ave., a member of Post 374 who is believed to be the oldest World War I veteran in Columbiana County. Now 78, Green served in the Mexican War and World War I.

Thomas C. Smith, 216 W. 6th St., believed to be the oldest veteran in the city, rode at the head of the parade as honorary marshal but was unable to participate in the program because of health.

The Memorial Day program opened Saturday morning with services on the East Liverpool - Chester bridge, where floral tributes were strewn on the Ohio River in memory of seamen who lost their lives. The Rev. Charles Taylor Jr. of the Gardendale Church of the Nazarene was the speaker.

Motorist Fined $50

NEW CUMBERLAND — Donald Vuletic, 22, of 1700½ Pennsylvania Ave., was fined $50 and costs Friday night by Squire John D. Herron on a charge of reckless driving on Route 2. He was arrested by Hancock County sheriff's deputies.

Drivers Await Hearings For Traffic Cases

A heavy docket, comprised chiefly of traffic arrests by city police and the State Highway Patrol over the Memorial Day weekend, awaits Judge George L. Brokaw in Municipal Court Tuesday morning.

No court was held this morning because Judge Brokaw was attending the graduation of his granddaughter from Marietta College, his alma mater.

Nine of the 11 motorists posted bonds totaling $206 for hearings tomorrow on a variety of charges. In addition, three other motorists also are due for hearings, including a Pittsburgh motorist arrested on three charges after a crash early today on Dresden Ave.

The motorists, the bonds they posted, charges and time of arrest are:

David F. Beatty, 1936 Michigan Ave., $47 for speeding and driving without an operator's permit Saturday morning on Pennsylvania Ave.

James F. Matheny of S. Shady Ln., $11 for crashing a traffic signal at Market and 4th Sts. Friday afternoon.

Worthy L. Bower of Youngstown, $16 for passing on a curve Sunday on Route 30.

Lawrence H. Cross of Akron, $16 for passing over a yellow line Friday night on Route 30.

Morilli W. Vitalune of Thompson Ave., $11 for failing to yield the right - of - way Friday night on Route 30.

Joseph Pezl of Tiltonsville, $16 for passing at an intersection Friday night on Route 7.

Brian P. Kiernan, 613 W. 9th St., $11 for crashing a traffic signal Saturday night at Pennsylvania and Oakland Aves.

Robert McLaughlin, 907 Oak St., $16 for speeding on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." Saturday morning.

George L. Talbott of Park Pl. is due to appear on a reckless driving charge filed by Liverpool Township Constable C. H. Owens as the result of a collision on Shadyside Ave. Sunday with a car driven by Albert Persinger.

Gerald E. Garner of Massillon also is scheduled for a hearing on a charge of passing over a double yellow line on Dresden Ave. Sunday morning.

Franklin D. Hanlon of Shadyside Ave. posted bonds totaling $62 on charges of using illegal license plates and resisting arrest. His counsel, Atty. W. S. Foulks, asked a continuance until Friday.

Carl Lee Baker, 18, of Logan St., is due for hearings on charges of fighting and resisting arrest.

Police said Hanlon spotted Lt. Mike Winters and pulled Baker away from a man he was fighting early Saturday on E. 3rd St. and the pair fled in Hanlon's car. The two were arrested later by Patrolman Paul Burson Jr.

by The Associated Press in a test period survey for a non-holiday weekend of 54 hours. The survey, covering the period from 6 p.m. Friday May 15, to midnight Sunday, May 17, also showed 32 drownings and 74 persons killed in miscellaneous types of accidents, for an over-all total of 368.

There were several multiple-death auto crashes. In one of the worst, a mother and four of her five children were killed Sunday when the family car was hit by a Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train at a rural crossing near Crown Point, Ind.

The National Safety Council had predicted a traffic death toll of 260. It termed the record total for the two-day holiday "tragic."

The highways were jammed with cars — the council had estimated 40 million for the two-day period — in the first holiday weekend of the season.

Stanton Local Awaits 3rd Vote Tuesday On School Bond Issue

Voters in the Stanton Local School District will ballot Tuesday on a $498,000 bond issue for construction of a new elementary school and installation of inside toilet facilities in another building.

Polling places in the district's eight precincts will be open from 7:30 a. m. to 7:30 p. m. (DST).

It is the third election in less than a year on the bond issue, which will require a 60 per cent affirmative vote for passage.

"The bond issue is for the purpose of constructing a new consolidated building in the Empire-Stratton area and for installing inside toilets in the Hammondsville elementary school.

"The new building will replace the Empire and Stratton buildings, which do not meet the minimum state standards that will become effective Sept. 1, 1959, and the Port Homer building, which will be ruined by the relocation of State Route 7, which is scheduled for construction early in 1961.

"School officials have been warned that if the building problem is not solved and brought up to standard they can look to dissolution of the district."

The proposed building would be a 10 classroom structure, one story, with a multi - purpose room (auditorium and gymnasium combined), cafeteria, music room, toilets, showers and offices.

It would serve 300 students, but is designed so that it can be enlarged if conditions should ever justify it, the board said. The building in Hammondsville is the only school building in Jefferson County that does not have inside toilet facilities, the board added.

unit. was being considered for activation to meet the danger, the minister asserted.

Russian and Chinese communism pose the threat of atheism, totalitarianism and cruelty, he said.

But the threat of internal moral decay is more serious because it is not recognized and could destroy us eventually without making it necessary for the communists to use their economic and military power, he continued.

As examples of moral decay, Rev. Miller pointed out crime has increased 4½ times as fast as the population since 1950, swindling and cheating are on the rise, ranging from petty thefts from companies by employes to enormous amounts in kickbacks, payoffs and bribes.

There's also the disregard of the law "by the so - called respectable people," the low aims and ideals of many, the break up of homes, and a general disregard for authority and responsibility, Rev. Miller added.

The defense against moral decay is a renewed respect for the law of land and of the community, self discipline for the development and control of ourselves to do a better job of living, and a return to a true religious faith expressed by a reverence for God and a loving consideration of the rights of others, Rev. Miller concluded.

Rev. Miller, who also pronounced the invocation and benediction, was introduced by Mayor Fred P. Lawrence, master of ceremonies.

The program also included the national anthem by the East Liverpool High School band directed by Donald C. Allen; the pledge of allegiance led by Postmaster Samuel W. Brown, a major in the Army Reserve; the Gettysburg address by Miss Marsha Franklin, an ELHS junior; a selection by the Salvation Army band directed by M. H. Clark, and a solo, "My Buddy," by Ernest Lowe.

Two presentations were made during the ceremonies.

T-Sgt. Jack T. Hanson, 1055 Rubicon St., was presented with a retirement certificate from the 766th Infantry Company by Capt. John R. Dopler of Steubenville, former East Liverpool resident. Sgt. Hanson retired April 1 after 25 years active duty in the Marines and 8 years in the Fleet Marine Reserve.

Capt. Al Sayre of the national championship VFW Post 66 drill team was presented with the Charles Stull Memorial Trophy by Louis Krawiec, general chairman of the Joint Memorial Day Committee. No drill team competition was held.

The parade, which included veterans' organizations, Gold Star Mothers, Ladies of the GAR, Navy Mothers, Post 66 drill team, a Marine Reserve unit and bands, paused at City Hall while a wreath was placed at the city's honor roll board.

The wreath was placed by Walter Green, 1959 Ohio Ave., a member of Post 374 who is believed to be the oldest World War I veteran in Columbiana County. Now 78, Green served in the Mexican War and World War I.

Thomas C. Smith, 216 W. 6th St., believed to be the oldest veteran in the city, rode at the head of the parade as honorary marshal but was unable to participate in the program because of health.

The Memorial Day program opened Saturday morning with services on the East Liverpool - Chester bridge, where floral tributes were strewn on the Ohio River in memory of seamen who lost their lives. The Rev. Charles Taylor Jr. of the Gardendale Church of the Nazarene was the speaker.

Pressure Continues For Tax Boost

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Legislature begins its 80th working day this afternoon under new pressure to boost taxes and change antiquated "blue laws".

But the first order of business in the House includes a vote on a proposal for a treatment and research center for sex offenders at Lima State Hospital.

Rep. Paul J. Lynch (D-Franklin), a co-sponsor, termed the measure a long step towards solving a neglected problem. A bureau in the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction would operate the center.

Senators called to the floor a House-passed bill allowing municipalities to boost their bonded debt limit another one-half percent without a popular vote. The present ceiling on such indebtedness is one percent of the value of all property within corporate limits, but two percent for charter cities.

Backers said several cities want authority to issue more general obligation bonds for hospitals, airport facilities, urban redevelopment, expressways and the like.

Senators returned from the Memorial Day weekend to tackle anew Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's stalled tax program bills.

Majority Democrats failed last week to round up enough votes for Senate passage of a meaasure to increase corporate franchise fees 96 million dollars in two years.

The key bill in DiSalle's program for a 360 million dollar tax boost went back to the Rules Committee during a night session that ended in a shouting melee when officers doused the lights.

Rep. Ray T. Miller Jr. of Cleveland, speaking for four other Democrat dissenters, said he would lay their complaints before the governor this week in an effort to end the deadlock.

Finance Director James H. Maloon indicated some compromises could be made without much loss of revenue. He said a cut from four-tenths of one percent to three-tenths in the proposed franchise tax on corporate net worth could be made and the method of assessment changed from present book value to true value to make up the difference. He explained that some firms carry a low valuation for property on their books and that true value would boost their taxes.

Another talked-about change would end use of the state cigarette stamp tax and the discount allowed dealers for a saving of about three million dollars. A pending proposal to boost the state tax on cigarettes two cents a pack would yield another 96 million dollars, although it might be halved.

House Democrats said that Senate reductions might be made up by increasing the total three percent utility excise tax on gross business to four percent. Most of the present utility taxes go for poor relief but any increase would go into the state's general fund.

Only Senate approval is needed to boost the tax on 3.2 beer $1 a barrel for another four million dollars in revenue. The House has approved a conference committee report that exempted retailers from the tax on beer that brewers and distributors have on hand.

Senate and House committees scheduled hearings on a series of bills to revise or repeal Ohio's more - than-a-century old "blue laws" banning unessential commercial and other activities on Sunday.

DiSalle said an interim ruling by the attorney general might knock out Sunday activities at state and county fairs, parks and other places. The governor said he favors revision unless difficulties make repeal desirable.

Hearings are scheduled on one of the last two big appropriation measures introduced in the House last week. It carries nearly 97 million dollars for capital improvements in the next two years. The other provides more than a million dollars to pay 194 claims against the state.

Introduction of those two measures usually signals the end of a legislative session in about six weeks or two months. The major appropriation bill carrying nearly two billion dollars for state operations has passed the House and is being heard by the Senate Finance Committee.

The present Legislature already has run longer than working sessions of the Republican-controlled 102nd General Assembly two years ago. That session ended work early on the morning of Memorial Day and took final adjournment in mid-June.

Measures still before committees this session deal with unemployment and workmen's compensation, schools, elections, water and watercraft, local governments, labor practices, dairy marketing, pardons and paroles, liquor controls, retail "fair trade" and a host of other proposals.

Parks Attract Huge Crowds

Huge crowds jammed parks, swimming pools and other recreation areas throughout the East Liverpool district on the Memorial Day weekend, first "warm weather" holiday of the year.

Intermittent showers failed to dampen the festivities, but unusually high humidity made the heat seem oppressive. Dam 8 at Newell recorded a high temperature of 80 for Saturday, followed by an 82 Sunday.

The municipal swimming pool at Thompson Park, opening for the season, attracted 581 Saturday and 641 Sunday. An estimated 2,000 used the park's picnic facilities Saturday and another 1,000 visited the park Sunday.

An estimated 6,000 visited Tomlinson Run State Park in Hancock County on the two-day holiday, N. T. Holbrook, park supervisor, said today.

He added that 850 filed through the turnstiles of the swimming pool over the holiday weekend.

An estimated 1,000 dipped in the City Park pool at East Palestine Saturday, a sizeable crowd for the start of the season, Thomas Quilter, manager, reported. About 400 took advantage of "free day" Friday, when no admission was charged.

Throughout Columbiana County, a "better than normal" traffic safety record was chalked up over the holiday weekend, according to the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Travel was average Saturday and early Sunday, but began increasing in the afternoon and was heavy late yesterday, officers said.

Only a few minor mishaps were reported since Friday, a better accident record than most weekends, officers said.

Charles Johnson, 17, of Lisbon R. D. 4 was charged with reckless driving after his car swerved off the road and into a ditch when he fell asleep while driving on Depot Rd. north of Guilford Lake Saturday morning about 3.

About 1,000 attended Midland's Veterans Memorial Pool over Memorial Day weekend. Some 14,315 attended Raccoon Creek State Park near Hookstown.

Boy Thinks It's Time He Had Change In Luck

PHOENIX, Arix. (AP) — Roy Holmes Jr., 17-year-old Phoenix grocery clerk, thinks it is about time his luck changed.

A few months ago he cut his left hand with a razor blade. A short time later he fell while skating and broke a wrist. Then he slipped on some grease and broke his right foot.

Platter Can Be Blue Plate Special, Hit Tune

Williams proved himself a songwriter when his tune "You Are My Destiny" sold 350,000 copies on the record stands.

But songwriting, he says, is still a spare time occupation. He prefers working regular hours as director of food services at the Florham - Madison Campus of Fairleigh Dickenson University.

Bargaining Talks To Be Resumed In Construction Duel

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The striking Operating Engineers Union and the Ohio Contractors Assn. go back to the bargaining table here Tuesday.

Pressed by the knowledge that the nearly week-old strike is holding up far-flung construction projects, particularly Ohio highway development, Federal Mediator H. J. Montoney announced over the weekend that he got the disputants to meet.

Previous negotiations for a contract replacing one that expired May 1 broke down last Monday. That signalled the beginning of the strike, halting heavy equipment operation on nearly 400 million dollars' worth of roadbuilding in 76 counties.

Involved are about 8,000 members of Operating Engineers' Local 18 and 100 construction firms represented by the contractors' association.

The union has asked a 35-cent hourly wage increase package in a two-year contract and establishment of a "non-discriminatory" hiring hall. The contractors have opposed the hiring hall while offering a three-year pact with hourly wage increases of 10 cents each year.

More than 2,400 persons have lost their lives in floods in the United States during the last 30 years.

Out Of The Air

By MARIE TORRE

Westerns Still Ride The TV Range

There's nothing wrong with Westerns, except the number of them, we've always said, and we know we'll be saying it again next year—with greater futility, no doubt, and bloodshot eyes!

Marie Torre

This dismal prospect springs from a survey of what's in store for the Western as it goes into its third year of TV notoriety, and while the report is great for outer manufacturers, it's awful for saddle-sore viewers who yearn for other entertainment forms. Next season there'll be more Westerns than ever—preaching gun law on TV.

Getting down to statistics, the three networks so far have scheduled a total of 25 sagebrush series for TV's next round, representing 22 per cent of all prime evening time or 16½ hours a week. This season there are 23 Westerns, accounting for 14 hours a week.

While all season we labored under the impression that Westerns had reached the saturation point, we noted something on TV Sunday night that should have told us how wrong we were.

The "Dinah Shore Show," a television forerunner and one of the few programs capable of outrating the horse operas, used a Western theme for its opening — complete with bandy-legged cowboys, barroom belles and flaming guns.

All through the show, three words kept distracting us from the scene at hand: "Et tu, Dinah!"

MARVIN MILLER has been resigned for the fifth consecutive year as host-star of "The Millionaire." In his role as secretary to billionaire John Beresford Tipton, Miller has given away about 157 million dollars since the first "Millionaire" episode, plus an additional 52 million in re-runs. . . .

Peggy Wood, once hopeful of reactivating "Mama," reportedly has agreed to embrace another series, "Maud Silver." . . .

Life gets easier and easier for the indecisive television executives! From the American Research Bureau comes word of an electronic computer (Univac SS90) that'll work out for sponsor representatives the "Best Buys" in TV advertising.

RED SKELTON received an unexpected bouquet from the dean of comedy, Groucho Marx, who writes in McCalls's Magazine:

"Red Skelton is the most unacclaimed clown in show business. I think the logical successor to (Charlie) Chaplin is Skelton. I've seen most of the great, legendary clowns of the circus, but I must confess I've rarely seen one who could amuse me for more than a minute.

"There is no one around who can take a comic fall as completely and magnificently as he can. Some day I'm afraid the eggheads will take him up and start reading social significance into his antics.

"Let's hope they don't, because this has ruined many a good performer. And we need all the pure comedians like Red we can get."

Lewis Claims Ike Leans To Steel Industry

WASHINGTON (AP)—John L. Lewis has accused President Eisenhower of siding with the steel magnates by talking of the possible inflationary effects of a steel wage and price increase.

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers union, appearing in a television interview (NBC-Meet the Press) Sunday, said that for the first time in six years Eisenhower had interfered in a labor-management dispute before the negotiations had been concluded.

"In effect, what he's telling the American worker is that he can't participate in the advantages of the economy on the same basis as the employer," Lewis said. "He eliminates the workers from participating in the benefits of free enterprise, capitalism, and our way of life."

Eisenhower has been urging that wage increases be limited to increased productivity to avoid another round of inflation. He has cautioned both the steel industry and its workers that "the United States cannot stand still and do nothing" if they push wages and prices upward and add to inflation.

The industry and the United Steelworkers of America resume in New York Tuesday negotiations toward a new labor contract to replace one expiring July 1.

Train Kills Child As Mother Fails To Reach Tracks

WRENSHALL, Minn. (AP) — A mother racing to save her 2-year-old daughter from a train got within 15 feet of the child Sunday night before the engine hit the little girl and killed her.

Jan was starting to get to her feet when the passenger train, traveling at about 60 miles per hour, struck her.

The accident occurred seconds after Mrs. Julius Newsum got into a friend's auto to drive to a neighbor's home. Newsum, cutting the lawn, remained home with Jan and a year-old child.

From the auto window, Mrs. Newsum saw Jan sitting along the tracks 125 feet from the house. She leaped from the car and ran toward the girl. She fell once, got up and resumed running. She kept calling to her daughter.

The engineer, Carl Ostlund, Duluth, Minn., said he had seen something on the ties ahead of the Northern Pacific train. He applied the brakes, but the train, which doesn't stop in Wrenshall, was going too fast.

Newspaper Tieup Ends At St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP)— St. Louisans enjoyed a morning newspaper at breakfast today for the first time in more than three months. The Globe-Democrat published its first edition since being closed by an American Newspaper Guild strike Feb. 21.

Publisher Richard Amberg in a signed editorial claimed the Guild did not accomplish its objectives in the long strike.

Rollin Everett, executive secretary of the ANG's St. Louis local, claimed the union did everything it set out to do.

The paper was printed on presses of the rival evening Post-Dispatch. A week after the strike started, the Post bought the Globe's building and mechanical equipment and will print the Globe under contract.

The strike started over the Guild's demand for a pension plan. Job security became an issue when the building was sold and the Globe said some dismissals would be necessary.

Westerns Still Ride The TV Range

There's nothing wrong with Westerns, except the number of them, we've always said, and we know we'll be saying it again next year—with greater futility, no doubt, and bloodshot eyes!

Marie Torre

This dismal prospect springs from a survey of what's in store for the Western as it goes into its third year of TV notoriety, and while the report is great for outer manufacturers, it's awful for saddle-sore viewers who yearn for other entertainment forms. Next season there'll be more Westerns than ever—preaching gun law on TV.

Getting down to statistics, the three networks so far have scheduled a total of 25 sagebrush series for TV's next round, representing 22 per cent of all prime evening time or 16½ hours a week. This season there are 23 Westerns, accounting for 14 hours a week.

While all season we labored under the impression that Westerns had reached the saturation point, we noted something on TV Sunday night that should have told us how wrong we were.

The "Dinah Shore Show," a television forerunner and one of the few programs capable of outrating the horse operas, used a Western theme for its opening — complete with bandy-legged cowboys, barroom belles and flaming guns.

All through the show, three words kept distracting us from the scene at hand: "Et tu, Dinah!"

RED SKELTON received an unexpected bouquet from the dean of comedy, Groucho Marx, who writes in McCalls's Magazine:

"Red Skelton is the most unacclaimed clown in show business. I think the logical successor to (Charlie) Chaplin is Skelton. I've seen most of the great, legendary clowns of the circus, but I must confess I've rarely seen one who could amuse me for more than a minute.

"There is no one around who can take a comic fall as completely and magnificently as he can. Some day I'm afraid the eggheads will take him up and start reading social significance into his antics.

"Let's hope they don't, because this has ruined many a good performer. And we need all the pure comedians like Red we can get."

Lewis Claims Ike Leans To Steel Industry

WASHINGTON (AP)—John L. Lewis has accused President Eisenhower of siding with the steel magnates by talking of the possible inflationary effects of a steel wage and price increase.

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers union, appearing in a television interview (NBC-Meet the Press) Sunday, said that for the first time in six years Eisenhower had interfered in a labor-management dispute before the negotiations had been concluded.

"In effect, what he's telling the American worker is that he can't participate in the advantages of the economy on the same basis as the employer," Lewis said. "He eliminates the workers from participating in the benefits of free enterprise, capitalism, and our way of life."

Eisenhower has been urging that wage increases be limited to increased productivity to avoid another round of inflation. He has cautioned both the steel industry and its workers that "the United States cannot stand still and do nothing" if they push wages and prices upward and add to inflation.

The industry and the United Steelworkers of America resume in New York Tuesday negotiations toward a new labor contract to replace one expiring July 1.

Train Kills Child As Mother Fails To Reach Tracks

WRENSHALL, Minn. (AP) — A mother racing to save her 2-year-old daughter from a train got within 15 feet of the child Sunday night before the engine hit the little girl and killed her.

Jan was starting to get to her feet when the passenger train, traveling at about 60 miles per hour, struck her.

The accident occurred seconds after Mrs. Julius Newsum got into a friend's auto to drive to a neighbor's home. Newsum, cutting the lawn, remained home with Jan and a year-old child.

From the auto window, Mrs. Newsum saw Jan sitting along the tracks 125 feet from the house. She leaped from the car and ran toward the girl. She fell once, got up and resumed running. She kept calling to her daughter.

The engineer, Carl Ostlund, Duluth, Minn., said he had seen something on the ties ahead of the Northern Pacific train. He applied the brakes, but the train, which doesn't stop in Wrenshall, was going too fast.

Newspaper Tieup Ends At St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP)— St. Louisans enjoyed a morning newspaper at breakfast today for the first time in more than three months. The Globe-Democrat published its first edition since being closed by an American Newspaper Guild strike Feb. 21.

Publisher Richard Amberg in a signed editorial claimed the Guild did not accomplish its objectives in the long strike.

Rollin Everett, executive secretary of the ANG's St. Louis local, claimed the union did everything it set out to do.

The paper was printed on presses of the rival evening Post-Dispatch. A week after the strike started, the Post bought the Globe's building and mechanical equipment and will print the Globe under contract.

The strike started over the Guild's demand for a pension plan. Job security became an issue when the building was sold and the Globe said some dismissals would be necessary.

In West Virginia Case

Officer Explains Delay In Finding Of 2 Women

CLARKSBURG — The curve on W. Va. 20 where two housewives' descent to death began was called "the place you'd least suspect their car to go in" by the state police captain who headed the investigation of the case.

Capt. C. L. Walker of Co. A made this remark in explaination of the long delay in finding out what became of Mrs. Juanita Ferguson, 53, and Mrs. Virginia Conley, 54.

The two Clarksburg women disappeared the night of April 8 while driving home from a garden club meeting at Beckley.

Their car was discovered Saturday in Elk Creek along W. Va. 20 about six miles south of here. Two weekend hikers spotted the dark and immobile trunk just below the surface. The badly decomposed bodies were in the front seat.

Just what happened to cause the car to plunge into the creek is not known, and never will be. Walker said it was a "good possibility the driver dozed off."

Dr. Herman Fischer, a pathologist at St. Mary's Hospital here, believed drowning followed.

"I feel fairly certain that their deaths were not caused by the impact of the crash," Dr. Fischer said. "There were no broken bones."

Both he and Walker said nothing turned up so far indicated even a possibility of foul play. Dr. Fischer's complete report on the basis of autopsies he performed will not be made for about a week.

During the almost two months that passed after the women were last seen alive when they stopped for coffee 70 miles south of here, all of the routes they could have taken were searched minutely and repeatedly.

National Guardsmen, helicopters, divers, sportsmen with boats —all kinds of volunteers—helped the state police and other law enforcement officers. A nationwide alert was put out on the theory that the women might have decided to go elsewhere or had been kidnaped.

Walker said that the Elk Creek parralleled the highway for only about 75 feet along the stretch where the accident happened.

His explanation for its being overlooked fell into two parts:

The creek had been running high and muddy. Hot weather lately, with less rain, allowed it to drop and clear up.

The Fergusons' 1955 Buick only by the rarest chance passed between two small trees in going from the highway into the creek without marking either so that it would be noticed by searches.

"You couldn't duplicate that accident without taking the bark off those trees," Walker said. The little green paint left on them was not conspicuous enough to lead to a discovery.

Walker said there was a long straight stretch up to the curve where the car went off the highway. Mrs. Ferguson did not fail completely to turn, as would seem likeliest if she fell asleep. Instead, the car bore left, following the highway, but went too far.

A precaution always taken by Mrs. Ferguson on long drives made escape, if the women were conscious, the more difficult after the plunge into the water. She had locked all the doors.

Mrs. Ferguson was married to Thomas R. Ferguson, a metals firm plant manager, and had three grown children.

Mrs. Conley and her husband, a cabinet maker were childless. The two families joined together to offer a $2,000 reward for information about the women. The state police alerted the whole country.

Walker said leads were still coming in the day the bodies were found.

Both women are being buried here. Mrs. Conley's funeral was scheduled for today; Mrs. Ferguson's for tomorrow.

Lloyd Staying, Britons Insist

GENEVA (AP) — British delegates at the Big Four talks expressed astonishment today at a London report suggesting Selwyn Lloyd's days as foreign secretary are numbered.

British officials said there is "not the slightest chance" that Lloyd will be moved from his post before Britain's general election due sometime before next May.

The London Times report caused a buzz of speculation among American, French, German and even Soviet delegates not only about Lloyd's own future but also about the nature of the policies he has been advocating.

In London, responsible sources described the London report as completely untrue.

The Times reported that British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan had taken Lloyd aside to inform him that he will be moved from his post.

The Times said Macmillan told Lloyd he would choose a new foreign secretary if the Conservatives are returned to office in the next election, expected in October.

Said one reliable British informant: "I can assure you that the prime minister and the foreign secretary have never had any such conservation."

There was no formal comment from No. 10 Downing St., Macmillan's official residence, or from the Foreign Office.

British officials were saying plenty privately.

British official sources also went to some pains to assure correspondents the Times report was "uninspired." The fact it appeared in one of the nation's most reliable newspaper seemed on the surface to give an impression that the story had been planted by somebody high up in the government.

Officer Explains Delay In Finding Of 2 Women

CLARKSBURG — The curve on W. Va. 20 where two housewives' descent to death began was called "the place you'd least suspect their car to go in" by the state police captain who headed the investigation of the case.

Capt. C. L. Walker of Co. A made this remark in explaination of the long delay in finding out what became of Mrs. Juanita Ferguson, 53, and Mrs. Virginia Conley, 54.

The two Clarksburg women disappeared the night of April 8 while driving home from a garden club meeting at Beckley.

Their car was discovered Saturday in Elk Creek along W. Va. 20 about six miles south of here. Two weekend hikers spotted the dark and immobile trunk just below the surface. The badly decomposed bodies were in the front seat.

Just what happened to cause the car to plunge into the creek is not known, and never will be. Walker said it was a "good possibility the driver dozed off."

Dr. Herman Fischer, a pathologist at St. Mary's Hospital here, believed drowning followed.

"I feel fairly certain that their deaths were not caused by the impact of the crash," Dr. Fischer said. "There were no broken bones."

Both he and Walker said nothing turned up so far indicated even a possibility of foul play. Dr. Fischer's complete report on the basis of autopsies he performed will not be made for about a week.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Cooking Helps To Add Poundage

When it comes to dodging calories, the homemaker is on the spot. She keeps company with calories all day long—planning pleasing menus, shopping for food, cooking the meals and serving them. Being a good cook, naturally she appreciates her own cooking.

Ida Jean Kain

All things considered, it is quite understandable when homemakers inquire wistfully, half in earnest, if smelling the food could possibly be fattening. In a way, yes. Calories can't be inhaled, of course. However the sense of smell before a meal is acutely keen and serves to stimulate appetite, thus encourages overeating. So cooking is potentially fattening.

All this makes it even more difficult for a good cook to follow the weight-control rule to get up from the table feeling as if she could eat a mite more.

AND EVEN IF she manages that hurdle, she still faces food, for now comes the putting away stage. As one overweight frankly admitted, "It seems so senseless to save little dabs of this and that in the refrigerator, but so dreadful to throw away food, that I often finish the leftovers."

Following this practice year after year, by her tenth anniversary, a homemaker can have "saved" quite a bit of food, as indicated by the scales.

One woman reflected that she had gained only one pound each year she had been married, which would seem exemplary. But on her twentieth wedding anniversary, she decided it was time to take stock.

If you have been slowly but steadily adding a bit of weight each year, make a few calorie concessions. It really isn't difficult to lop off 500 calories a day. But start while cooking the meal. True, a good cook tastes to flavor, but "taste makes waist."

One cook ruefully admits that her tastes are quite generous — she has even been known to cut a little piece off the cake before she can get it frosted! So for a time, don't taste.

At meals, leave off calories where they will count fast, but be least missed. Fats piled up calories, so try leaving off part of the salad dressing, skip the gravy and take just one starch at a meal —potato or bread or starch dessert.

Those three changes will delete at least 300 calories. Counting the 100 by-passed by not tasting and another 100 left off by not nibbling while clearing off the table—that's 500.

TO MAKE THE last step easier, wait 10 or 15 minutes after dinner before putting away the food. It helps.

Let's see — 500 calories a day can add up to 3,500 a week. If this represents a deficit, that is, fewer calories than needed for your daily requirements, then you will lose about 4 pounds a month. And in just half a year, the extra pounds gained over many years can be turned back into energy.

Send a long, stamped, self - addressed envelope for "Mr. And Mrs. Reducing Plan." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests can not be answered.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Cooking Helps To Add Poundage

When it comes to dodging calories, the homemaker is on the spot. She keeps company with calories all day long—planning pleasing menus, shopping for food, cooking the meals and serving them. Being a good cook, naturally she appreciates her own cooking.

Ida Jean Kain

All things considered, it is quite understandable when homemakers inquire wistfully, half in earnest, if smelling the food could possibly be fattening. In a way, yes. Calories can't be inhaled, of course. However the sense of smell before a meal is acutely keen and serves to stimulate appetite, thus encourages overeating. So cooking is potentially fattening.

All this makes it even more difficult for a good cook to follow the weight-control rule to get up from the table feeling as if she could eat a mite more.

AND EVEN IF she manages that hurdle, she still faces food, for now comes the putting away stage. As one overweight frankly admitted, "It seems so senseless to save little dabs of this and that in the refrigerator, but so dreadful to throw away food, that I often finish the leftovers."

Following this practice year after year, by her tenth anniversary, a homemaker can have "saved" quite a bit of food, as indicated by the scales.

One woman reflected that she had gained only one pound each year she had been married, which would seem exemplary. But on her twentieth wedding anniversary, she decided it was time to take stock.

If you have been slowly but steadily adding a bit of weight each year, make a few calorie concessions. It really isn't difficult to lop off 500 calories a day. But start while cooking the meal. True, a good cook tastes to flavor, but "taste makes waist."

One cook ruefully admits that her tastes are quite generous — she has even been known to cut a little piece off the cake before she can get it frosted! So for a time, don't taste.

At meals, leave off calories where they will count fast, but be least missed. Fats piled up calories, so try leaving off part of the salad dressing, skip the gravy and take just one starch at a meal —potato or bread or starch dessert.

Those three changes will delete at least 300 calories. Counting the 100 by-passed by not tasting and another 100 left off by not nibbling while clearing off the table—that's 500.

TO MAKE THE last step easier, wait 10 or 15 minutes after dinner before putting away the food. It helps.

Let's see — 500 calories a day can add up to 3,500 a week. If this represents a deficit, that is, fewer calories than needed for your daily requirements, then you will lose about 4 pounds a month. And in just half a year, the extra pounds gained over many years can be turned back into energy.

Send a long, stamped, self - addressed envelope for "Mr. And Mrs. Reducing Plan." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests can not be answered.

DO YOU HAVE ARTHRITIS?

Here is a message you will want to read.

Your doctor can tell you there is absolutely no known cure for arthritis. Medical research specialists are now engaged in several projects which, it is felt, will ultimately help in finding a cure, but as yet none has been found. Naturally, we all live in hope they will be successful, but until that time we must be content to get the best relief possible.

Right now there is a fast, safe and effective relieving agent available called Pruvo. Pruvo's ingredients have been used in hospitals and clinics, prescribed by doctors, and have helped scores of men and women to lead happy and full lives. You can be sure nothing is faster, safer or has been proven more effective than Pruvo for temporary easing of minor arthritic condition or its related diseases—rheumatism, neuritis, sciatica, lumbago and bursitis. And it's wonderful for backache and every day muscular aches and pains too. Try Pruvo today. Ask your druggist for a generous 75-tablet trial size bottle. You must be satisfied with the results or your purchase price will be refunded by the maker. There are larger, economy sizes also, for continued use.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY MEYERS

Domineering Child Should Be Curbed

Suppose you were the mother of Phil, 4, described below by his mother. There is an older boy, "kind and patient with all, including his younger brother. Phil is very demanding of me," writes his mother. "He demands attention, conversation, waiting - on — every comfort he can possibly think of. He has no patience, shows temper upon frustrations and is unreasonable. He demands the same favor and attention as that displayed to his older brother.

By Garry Meyers

"These demands are endless.

"THEY ARE directed to me only, not to others in charge of him. He goes to nursery school, where he is considered pliable and co-operative. His relationship with his father is much better than with me.

He minds with less pressure. With his grandmother he is very co-operative; she enjoys him very much because he is so communicative and demonstrative.

"This situation began in infancy. "During the first year of his life, he suffered from a skin eczema which required much care and attention. He gets up early, and often wakes up during the night. Many times after he has gone to bed he calls me to him.

"HIS FATHER finds it difficult to accept this condition, claiming I should be able to control the child. I try to be understanding and not to say 'No' unnecessarily —then make it stick when I do.

"Do you have any suggestions?"

My reply in part:

It's easy to see how you got into the habit of catering to your little boy's whims. During his first year, when he was constantly so uncomfortable, you allowed him to manage you. Now that he is well, it is still difficult for you to keep him from letting him manage you.

Your first problem is to manage yourself.

DECIDE ON a few things you are going to do, or not do, and stick to them.

You probably wait until you get "mad" and then shout No twenty times. Say No just once. Then act decisively. When he is good, show him ample affection. Be generous with deserving praise.

My bulletin, "Sleep Problems with Children," can be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

'Color Is No Mystery,' Noted Authority States

NEW YORK — "It doesn't take a genius to understand color," according to Paul McCobb, famous contemporary interior designer. What it does take, according to McCobb, is "a willingness to try a mature approach to color selection."

McCobb does not agree with the practice of trying to surround the use of color with mystery. Rather, he believes that colors in paints, fabrics, carpets, etc., are simply tools used to create and sustain interest in everyday surroundings.

McCobb's advice to the homemaker planning a new home or redecorating an apartment is to consider three basic color ideas before she makes any final decorating decisions.

First, all large areas should be painted in light - reflecting color; the fewer the shadows the more spacious the room will appear.

Second, choice of wall paint, and also fabric and carpet colors, should be either in the cool or the warm group. If the two groups are to be mixed it should be done with great caution.

Third, limit the number of colors in a room to three or four at the most. Says McCobb, "I'm forever chasing rainbows' is a poetically appetizing phrase, but living in a rainbow of color can be nightmarish."

When questioned regarding color trends in paint and fabrics, McCobb, whose designs represent the coming - of - age of the modern design movement applied practically to everyday living, stated that the life of a color trend is usually about five years.

"Often a color will emerge because there is a need for the eye to refresh itself," he said. "This happened with lemon yellow a short time ago. Popular in the color palette were tangerines, mustards, greens, and lemon yellow was close enough in basic feeling so that the homemaker could upholster a chair or even paint a wall lemon yellow, if she so desired, without upsetting her basic color scheme. And yet she had achieved something fresh and new and pleasing to the eye. Similar things are happening right now with the blue tones.

"I personally use a great deal of white," he continued. "Actually, white became a color force as a reaction to dungeon grays, muddy cocoas and heavy forest greens. White painted walls make a perfect frame in which to use exciting colors. When, for example, you see how effectively white walls set off sea - green upholstery, carpet and bright - colored accessories, only then do you realize the great help white is in appreciating and using other colors."

Color, concluded McCobb, plays an important part in our lives and as in good design, avoidance of novelty is a good rule to follow. Select the period of furniture and the wall paint colors and build your rooms around these. The purpose being to enjoy the beauty, excitement, satisfaction of properly selected, harmonious colors.

PRIZE SHRUBBERY and flowers will receive added attention from visitors when a beautiful fence is used as a foil. Here, a corner of the yard devoted to favorite shrubs is set off by delicate white fence of board-on-board pattern. Western red cedar, a hardy outdoor wood, was used as fencing material.

Proper Types Of Backdrops Aid To Shrubs

PORTLAND, Ore. — If a sociologist tried to determine what hobby occupied the time of the greatest number of Americans, he probably would spend the rest of his life compiling data and still never make a conclusive report.

But if a poll of one segment of society, the American home owner, were taken, gardening surely would rank high as a favorite pastime.

Home owners consider it a challenge to try to outdo each other on the quality and placement of their prized greens and posies, and the one who pays close attention to the little details, the corners of the yard, is the one who is most likely to pass the others.

As is so often the case, the most candid and simple design is often the most pleasing. A corner of the yard which boasts a few choice plantings will catch the eye more quickly than the corner which masses shrubbery together in jungle-like fashion.

And the smart gardner knows that the way to direct attention to his handiwork is by providing a backdrop against which the sprouting greens stand out with distinction.

Most home owners find that a fence serves as an excellent foil for plantings. And though simple in design and construction, the selection of the proper fence can be an intricate business.

For instance, a home which is built in traditional design and landscaped with lawns and flower beds requires something quite different from a dwelling of contemporary design whose grounds featured crushes rock and clumps of native shrubbery.

In the first case, something delicate and clean-lined is needed. Patterns like the board-on-board and vertical louver built of surfaced Douglas fir lumber and painted white usually do well in this situation.

The contemporary home can take a fence pattern of stronger lines, like basketweave or horizontal board-on-board, and the fir or western red cedar can be rough-sawn and stained a natural wood shade.

If the fence is to be used solely as a foil for plantings, it is unnecessary to use it as an enclosure for the entire yard. Often a section of fencing just turning the corner of the yard is highly effective, and it is in this corner that the prize flora should be placed.

Built-In Beds Will Help Ease Small-Room Needs

Corner built-in beds flanging out from a built-in cabinet make an extremely neat and practical arrangement for any room in which standard twin beds would crowd the floor space available.

Thousands of assemblies of this kind have solved the small room problem for many families. The actual construction of this unit is simple, and above all, economical.

The first step in making this assembly is to construct a cabinet as illustrated, using 2-by-4's for the corner posts and sheathing them with plywood of three-eighth thickness. A top and mid-height shelf are also provided for books, lamp and other objects. The middle shelf is supported by 2-by-4 horizontals set between the corner posts.

The second step is to locate the wall-studs and securely nail 1-by-8 wood strips into the wall, thus forming the inside sides of the beds. The balance of the beds, head, outer side pieces and foot, are plainly indicated by the drawing. The short legs are nailed inside the frame as shown.

The third operation consists of nailing 1-by-1½ strip to the lower inside face of the frame as shown, to support the springs and mattresses. Pieces of 1-by-3 stock are cut to form bed-slats and are laid over and across these strips.

This is a comparatively simple job of carpentry and has been done by thousands of home mechanics and amateurs. The one precaution to be observed is that you have the springs and mattresses on hand or have the measurements, so that the assembly can be cut to those requirements.

'Nylon Muscles' To Aid Paralyzed

Doctors say the artificial muscles will allow polio victims and others with immobile hands to feed themselves, sew, write, or shave with a firm, sure touch.

Fingers, they say, will flex in a normal way.

A model improved by Baylor University College of Medicine laboratory workers was unveiled Sunday at the Texas Institute for Rehabilitation and Research.

A light plastic cast supports the inner side of the hand. Four nylon threads attached to the muscle of the arm are threaded through the plastic to rings that fit around the finger joints.

King Of Belgium Flies Home After Sincere 'Thanks'

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—Belgium's King Baudouin, impressed "by the great heart and friendliness of the American people," flew home today, his three-week tour of the United States behind him.

The slender, bespectacled King, at 29 still a bachelor, said he was sorry to go. He wrung the hand of everyone within reach, thanking all for "the great visit."

During the trip he dined with President Eisenhower, addressed Congress and danced with movie actress Debbie Reynolds.

He said in a prepared departure statement: "I shall always remember my visit to your country with warmth and affection."

Holdup Man Drowns After Chase In Florida

CEDAR KEY, Fla. (AP)—The little fishing community of Cedar Key is a poor place for a holdup.

Huey Long Cannon, 24, of Dade City, wound up dead on the bottom of a lagoon Saturday night after he:

1. Set up drinks in a local saloon with proceeds of a $35 holdup elsewhere;

2. Robbed Mrs. Leone Brown of $100 at gunpoint in her drugstore;

3. Drove his car at 90 m.p.h. in an effort to shake off pursuit by City Marshal Sam Perryman on the only road to the mainland;

4. Hit a power pole and catapulted down a 12-foot embankment into the water.

Screw Quite Often Will Brace Wood Tighter Than Nail

The person who has tried to drive a screw into oak, maple or other hardwood is well aware of the difficulty encountered.

At the same time most people know that a screw is about five or six times as strong as any nail, and is definitely needed in certain situations. One can fasten two pieces of wood together with a solid nail, and then, using the claw of the hammer, pry them apart without too much effort.

If the pieces are fastened together with a screw one will tear and rip the wood, but the screw will still hold.

Professional carpenters avoid any difficulty in using screws by the use of a simple formula. It takes a few seconds longer, but the screw will sink into any wood without effort if the formula is followed. It is as follows:

Establishing the point at which the screw is to be sunk, a drill or nail is used to make an entrance.

If a drill is used it should be about half of the diameter of the shank of the screw. And when a nail is used it should be driven in a half inch, twisted around, driven in another fraction of an inch and withdrawn. The threads of the screw are drawn over a piece of soap or smeared with petroleum and then set in the hole and turned. This procedure not only makes the work easy, but also prevents splitting the wood.

Colors Change Indoors But Seldom On Outside

A little white house sits high on a windy hill, sticking out, as the saying goes, like a sore thumb. It's been there for 50 years. It's been owned by at least 10 different people, yet it's always been painted, and repainted white. Why?

If you know the answer, you know a great deal more than the painting industry does. One of the great human mysteries faced by the men who manufacture paint is illustrated by the little white house. Just why, time after time, do people repaint the exterior of a house and its trim in its original colors?

SOME OF THE experts claim that it's a national habit, and let it goe at that. This may have been true years and years ago when the color choice of exterior paints was limited, little boys always wore blue suits to church and a business-man who wore a bow tie was considered practically unethical. Today color is everywhere—in clothes, appliances, furnishings and paints. And yet, when the average man repaints his house, he usually repeats the original color.

Oddly enough, when the same man paints the interior of his home, he usually changes colors. The little woman has a great deal to say about this, of course, for she's vitally interested in the proper background for herself, her drapes, her rugs and her furniture. Or she may want a light color to make a small room look large, or a dark color for just the opposite reason.

In an effort to determine just why home owners frequently change colors indoors, but only infrequently outdoors, the paint industry recently surveyed paint users in various parts of the country. The survey indicates that when it comes to repainting, 70 per cent repeat an exterior color, but only 25 per cent repeat an inside color.

Thus, if color is a national habit, we are a country of split personalities. We are consistent outdoors, changeable indoors. And we are just as inconsistent in our painting habits, for we repaint more frequently indoors than out.

People who change the interior color schemes of their homes about as often as they buy a new car (of a different color, usually) claim that the new colors add zest to living and provide a certain social acceptance among their friends.

Why don't these same people find the same reasons for changing exterior colors on their homes when they repaint, as they do about every four years? Frankly, they just don't know.

BUT WHAT about the 30 per cent who do change the exterior colors whenever they repaint their homes?

"Only a woman would understand," say the ladies. "A new dress makes one look like a new woman." The men get a bit more technical: "The old color made the house look too narrow on this lot" or "The roof didn't seem to belong before. And then there are others who are frank to admit that they got "sick and tired of coming home to a gray house."

There are plenty of indications that exterior painting habits are changing, both in frequency and in colors. Paint is an exterior surface's best friend and keeps the valuation of a home, the average family's biggest investment, on the upgrade. And a change in exterior colors every few years gives the house a new and often better look.

Builders and architects know what colors can do for a house. Next time you drive past a new home development, take a few minutes for a closer look at what's going on in the world of exterior paints.

Notice how two homes of almost identical design are made to look different by the clever use of colors. And how a house similar to yours in design uses color to highlight its good points and increase its market value.

Things To Do, Not To Do In Hanging Door

Attractive, properly installed flush doors can do almost as much for the appeal of a home as can smartly - tailored clothes for personal grooming, decorators point out.

In building or remodeling, therefore, the do - it - yourself enthusiast should be acquainted with the fundamentals of correct handling, installation, care and finishing of the doors.

Even the let - George - do - it type of home owner who cannot generate enthusiasm for manual household projects should be able to recognize proper procedures.

Flush doors, the decorators explain, are the kind used in many new homes today.

Here are a few door "do's and don'ts" from the National Woodwork Manufacturers Association, whose members include many of the nation's leading producers of flush doors:

Wear clean canvas gloves when handling doors. Bare hands leave finger marks and soil stains.

If you plan to have the doors on hand for more than a few days before installation, apply sealer to the top and bottom edges.

In moving doors, it's best to carry them. If you drag them, be sure you have the bottom ends down and protected by scuff strips or skid shoes.

In hanging a door, allow about 3-16-inch clearance for swelling of the door or the frame in extremely damp weather

Use three hinges on each door, set flush with the edge surface. Be sure the hinges are in a straight line to prevent distortion.

Do not subject doors to abnormal heat, dryness or humidity for prolonged periods, nor to sudden changes such as those induced by use of forced heat to dry out a building.

Do, however, allow them to adjust in moisture content to the prevailing humidity in the home. This can be done by leaving them in the house for four or five days before installation with a temperature of about 70 degrees maintained in the rooms.

When cleaning doors, do not use caustic or abrasive preparations.

The association offers this advice regarding finishing:

Do not begin finishing operations during or immediately after rainy or damp weather, or during a period of higher than average humidity.

Be sure the door surfaces are clean and dry. Sand lightly with No. 3-0 or 5-0 sandpaper, then wipe surfaces thoroughly.

Apply finish as soon as the door is fitted. Make sure that all four edges, including top and bottom, receive at least two coats of paint, varnish or sealer after the door has been fitted and is ready to hang.

Check with your paint or finish dealer concerning the type of finish you plan to use for the species of wood involved. Some species, oak in particular, contain a chemical which reacts unfavorably with certain kinds of finish. Difficulties in this respect usually can be averted, however, by application of sealer before the actual finishing.

Apply at least two coats of a good grade of oil - base mixed paint, varnish or lacquer, following the manufacturer's directions carefully. Do not use a water-thinned paint unless an oil - base prime coat first is applied.

Remember to sand the surfaces between finish coats.

Graham Ends Revival In Australian Region

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — Billy Graham was flying to Europe today, his three-month revival campaign in Australia and New Zealand a huge success.

About 5,000 people stood in a heavy rain at the airport to say goodbye to the American evangelist.

Organizers said the total attendance at Graham's three months of meetings totaled 3,217,500. Decisions for Christ totaled more than 140,000.

Student, Pastor Hurt In Tumble Down Cliff

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP) — Jerry Schoditsch, 20, Kent University student who fell 175 feet down a cliff in Mohican State Park Saturday, was released from Kettering Hospital in Loudonville Sunday. The Rev. Eugene B. Rueggemann, 32, of Kent was reported in fairly good condition in Robinson Memorial Hospital at Kent.

Rev. Rueggemann tumbled down the cliff when he chased a ball, and Schoditsch, 20, of Elyria, tried to grab him. They were with a group on a church outing.

Officers Seek Identity Of Body Left In Field

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — Police checked tattered clothing today, hoping to establish the identity of a woman whose body was found last Friday in a Washington County field.

An autopsy failed to disclose the cause of death. The coroner's office said the woman may have been dead as long as two months.

A father and son picking strawberries on the property of Curtis Meyers in East Findley Township discovered the body and called police.

Fire Hits Toledo U.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Fire in the engineering wing of the University of Toledo administration building caused an estimated $67,000 damage. Fire Chief Arnold Papenhagen, who gave the damage estimate, said the blaze may have been caused by a short circuit or spontaneous combustion in an attic room on the fifth floor of the building. Firemen battled the three-alarm fire for more than an hour Sunday before bringing it under control.

What's new on the market? Let's see:

There's a marine varnish that is said to last two to three times longer than regular exterior varnish because of a built-in filter which absorbs the destructive ultra - violet rays of the sun.

There's an asphalt blacktop coating designed to seal asphalt surfaces, preventing water absorption and resultant cracking and crumbling.

There's a paint brush shield made of neoprene to make it easier to paint ceilings and other high places without having the paint drip down your arm.

There's a new pile weatherstripping made especially to keep storm windows free of drafts and to remain soft and pliable even after prolonged exposure to different kinds of weather.

There's a six - room house, completely wired and with all plumbing installed, made entirely on the production line at the factory and delivered ready to be placed on the foundation.

There's a knot - hole sealer that comes in a pressurized can and is applied merely by pushing the top button on the can.

There's a new flexible mastic water - stop made especially for filling joints and cracks in concrete but said to work equally well with stucco, plaster and metal.

There's a translucent awning of vinyl - coated polyester fiber which the manufacturer claims will retain its bright colors long after regular awnings have faded.

There's a self - sticking tape with a metalized finish (chrome, gold or copper) which comes in widths of ¾-ths of an inch or 1½ inches.

And there's a fiberglass bathtub which, even in the largest size, weighs only 25 pounds, does not need floor reinforcement and does not need a concrete bed. It comes in colors and, the chances are, soon will be followed by other matching bathroom products.

The African elephant is the largest living land mammal. The white rhinoceros is second largest and the Indian elephant third largest.

Colors Change Indoors But Seldom On Outside

A little white house sits high on a windy hill, sticking out, as the saying goes, like a sore thumb. It's been there for 50 years. It's been owned by at least 10 different people, yet it's always been painted, and repainted white. Why?

If you know the answer, you know a great deal more than the painting industry does. One of the great human mysteries faced by the men who manufacture paint is illustrated by the little white house. Just why, time after time, do people repaint the exterior of a house and its trim in its original colors?

SOME OF THE experts claim that it's a national habit, and let it goe at that. This may have been true years and years ago when the color choice of exterior paints was limited, little boys always wore blue suits to church and a business-man who wore a bow tie was considered practically unethical. Today color is everywhere—in clothes, appliances, furnishings and paints. And yet, when the average man repaints his house, he usually repeats the original color.

Oddly enough, when the same man paints the interior of his home, he usually changes colors. The little woman has a great deal to say about this, of course, for she's vitally interested in the proper background for herself, her drapes, her rugs and her furniture. Bucs Double Up On Reds Again By Posting 6-2, 14-11 Wins

Roy Face Scores Seventh Straight

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

It has been a year and two days since Roy Face lost a ball game. The Pittsburgh relief ace picked up his seventh victory of 1959 Sunday while the Pirates were closing in on the National League leaders with a double victory over Cincinnati.

Face lost to Milwaukee, May 30, 1958. He won five last year and seven this year for a 12-0 record. During that period he has appeared in 61 ball games.

It was Face's three innings of shutout pitching that helped the Pirates pull out a wild 14-11 second game with Cincinnati after the Pirates had won the opener 6-2.

The Pirates thrust last winter's deal down the throats of the Reds as Smoky Burgess and Don Hoak, traded to Pittsburgh by Cincinnati, each hit three home runs. Bob Skinner contributed a pair, including a grand slammer, in the frantic second game.

While the Pirates continued to move up after their sorry start, both the second-place San Francisco Giants and fourth place Los Angeles Dodgers also closed in on Milwaukee. The Giants turned back Chicago 6-3 and the Dodgers nipped St. Louis 5-3 while the Braves were splitting two with the last-place Phils.

At the close of the holiday weekend, the Braves led the Giants by 2½ games, the Pirates by 4½ and the Dodgers by 5 games.

Robin Roberts shut out the Braves with four hits, 6-0, in the opener, his first complete game since April 22. It was his 209th major league triumph.

Warren Spahn moved up to tie Hall of Famer Carl Hubbell with 253 National League victories by throwing a four - hitter at the Braves while winning 2-1.

In contrast to the homer-packed games at Cincinnati, strikeout pitching predominated in California. Johnny Antonelli struck out 11 although he needed relief help from Stu Miller when the Cubs started to kick up in the ninth. Two Dodger pitchers, Sandy Koufax and Danny McDevitt, whiffed 14 Cardinals and St. Louis pitchers turned in nine strikeouts. The two-club total of 23 tied a National League record.

Roberts bested Lew Burdette in the first game at Milwaukee where 28,590, largest crowd at County Stadium since opening day, saw the two active NL pitchers with the most victories—Roberts and Spahn. Spahn got all the help he needed when Wes Covington hit a two-run homer off Ray Semproch in the first. The lone Phil run off Spahn was a pinch homer by Gene Freese, his fifth of the year.

Snead Begins Bid To Qualify In U.S. Open

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Golfing maestro Sam Snead—still seeking to add the U.S. Open championship to his numerous golfing laurels—faces the rigors of final sectional qualifying today along with 476 other hopefuls.

Snead joins such other luminaries as newly crowned British Amateur champion Deane Beman; Masters champion Art Wall Jr.; Bill Hyndman, who lost to Beman in the British Amateur final, and Arnold Palmer, one of the leading performers along the pro circuit, in the battle to get into the tournament proper.

This is the second round of eliminations for the main event at the Winged Foot Club, Mamaroneck, N.Y., June 11-13. Only 131 spots remain open for the nearly 500 golfers who will be competing at 13 locations across the country. Twelve will be held today. The 13th—at Atlanta—was put off until Tuesday because of rain.

Seven former Open winners are among the 19 on the exemption list and already have their places in the Open's championship flight.

Heading the exempt pack are the last five champions—Tommy Bolt, Dick Mayer, Cary Middlecoff, Jack Fleck and Ed Furgol—along with Ben Hogan and Julius Boros.

Qualifying sites include Atlanta, Springfield, Cincinnati and Washington, Los Angeles, Denver, Chicago, Detroit, Kansas City, Buffalo, Portland, Ore., Memphis and Fort Worth.

Yankees Jump Into Sixth After Sweep Of Senators

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Yankee haters arise! The battle has not been won. The enemy is not dead. He has escaped from the American League cellar.

The Washington chapter is to blame. They forgot to lock the basement door over the long weekend. Casey Stengel's men swept three in a row and charged into sixth place, blinking in daylight after 11 days in the dungeon.

This is blue Monday for the club members. New York shows definite signs of snapping out of it. They clobbered Washington twice on Saturday, scoring 22 runs, and won Sunday's single game 3-0 on Bill Skowron's three-run homer in the ninth and Bob Turley's two-hit pitching.

The Yanks still are four games under .500 but the league is beginning to come back to them. Cleveland, still in first place, is only six games away. The Yanks still have 112 games to play.

Charlie Maxwell did the Indians in with a three-run homer on Jim Perry's first pitch in the ninth for Detroit's 7-4 victory. Jerry Davie came through with his first complete game in the majors, a four-hitter after a wobbly start.

Cleveland held its one-game lead over Chicago because the White Sox were thumped early and late by Kansas City. The A's knocked out Early Wynn while scoring five runs in the second and added four more in the sixth on Preston Ward's grand slam homer for a 9-1 decision.

Baltimore dropped Boston into last place, five percentage points behind Washington, when Hal (Skinny) Brown beat the Red Sox 2-1. Brown staggered through the first two innings and settled down to pitch a four-hitter. He foiled Ted Williams' bid for his 2,500th big league hit. Williams went hitless in three official trips.

Camilo Pascual did his very best to keep the Yanks in last place, matching Turley's two-hit shutout for the first eight innings. There were two out in the ninth when Mickey Mantle, doubled to right center. After Yogi Berra was walked intentionally, Skowron lined Pascual's second pitch into the left center bleachers for his eighth home run.

Maxwell's homer in Detroit broke a 4-4 tie. Davie had opened the ninth with a single off Mike Garcia, and was sacrificed to second. Perry walked Harvey Kuenn intentionally before Maxwell hit his ninth homer.

Whitey Herzog's single with the bases loaded and Dick Williams' double each drove in two runs for the A's in the big second inning. Ward's grand slammer came off Barry Latman who replaced Wynn in the second. Ned Garver, who hasn't lost to Chicago since July 4, 1957, won his fourth with a four-hitter.

Maxwell's Homer Beats Tribe, 7-4

DETROIT (AP)—The Cleveland Indians lost the opener of a two-game series to the Detroit Tigers Sunday but kept their one-game lead in the American League pennant race when the second-place Chicago White Sox were trounced by Kansas City.

Gary Bell goes against the Tigers in the series finale today, seeking his fifth victory. He will be opposed by Paul Foytack, whom he beat, 1-0, in Cleveland May 22 although Foytack hurled a two-hitter.

A ninth inning home run by Charley Maxwell with two men on base and one out gave the Tigers a 7-4 victory Sunday afternoon. Scoring ahead of him were Jerry Davie, the winning pitcher, and Harvey Kuenn.

Maxwell picked the first pitch of reliefer Jim Perry for his ninth homer of the season into the upper deck in fight field. It was the first major league home run off Perry, a rookie who was called to the aid of Mike Garcia after Davie had led off with a single and was sacrificed to second base. The loss was Garcia's fourth without a victory.

The Indians got four hits off Davie, a rookie right-hander. They scored three runs in the first inning and added another in the fourth on Billy Martin's home run into the center field seats, but Davie was invincible the rest of the way. He retired the last 13 men he faced in winning his second game against one loss.

Don Ferrarese, who started for the Indians in quest of his fifth victory, walked five men to give the Tigers two runs in the first inning. He lasted until the seventh, when he was lifted for a pinch hitter and Garcia followed him to the mound.

A two-run single by Davie in the third sent the Tigers ahead briefly until Martin tied the score at 4-4 with his fifth home run of the season.

Ward Gains $106,850 For Winning '500' Race

By DALE BURGESS
Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)— Rodger Ward, loaded down with loot from the richest auto race ever run, will go right on competing in the world's most dangerous sport.

Ward and his car owner, Leader Cards, Inc., of Milwaukee, won $106,850 in the 43rd 500-mile race Saturday. The World War II fighter pilot's take under the customary contract would be 40 per cent, $42,740.

That means Ward will be risking his neck largely for the U.S. Treasury the rest of this season—but his pretty brunette wife, Jo, says he probably would race for nothing.

"I'm going to make the rest of the USAC championship races and possibly some sports car events if I can get a good car," Ward said.

His next race will be the 100-miler at Milwaukee next Sunday.

Ward set a new Speedway record of 135.875 miles an hour, beating Jim Rathmann by 23.27 seconds or about a mile. Rathmann's 135.619 also topped Hanks' 1957 record of 135.601.

It turned out to be a four-car race and Ward got a big assist from his smooth pit crew and air jacks which were installed in his A.J. Watson-built car. He made three stops for fuel and tires in a grand total of one minute and 13 seconds.

Johnny Thomson of Boyertown, Pa., the fastest qualified, had to make four pit stops, broke a torsion bar spring and finished third.

Bucs Double Up On Reds Again By Posting 6-2, 14-11 Wins

Roy Face Scores Seventh Straight

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

It has been a year and two days since Roy Face lost a ball game. The Pittsburgh relief ace picked up his seventh victory of 1959 Sunday while the Pirates were closing in on the National League leaders with a double victory over Cincinnati.

Face lost to Milwaukee, May 30, 1958. He won five last year and seven this year for a 12-0 record. During that period he has appeared in 61 ball games.

It was Face's three innings of shutout pitching that helped the Pirates pull out a wild 14-11 second game with Cincinnati after the Pirates had won the opener 6-2.

The Pirates thrust last winter's deal down the throats of the Reds as Smoky Burgess and Don Hoak, traded to Pittsburgh by Cincinnati, each hit three home runs. Bob Skinner contributed a pair, including a grand slammer, in the frantic second game.

While the Pirates continued to move up after their sorry start, both the second-place San Francisco Giants and fourth place Los Angeles Dodgers also closed in on Milwaukee. The Giants turned back Chicago 6-3 and the Dodgers nipped St. Louis 5-3 while the Braves were splitting two with the last-place Phils.

At the close of the holiday weekend, the Braves led the Giants by 2½ games, the Pirates by 4½ and the Dodgers by 5 games.

Robin Roberts shut out the Braves with four hits, 6-0, in the opener, his first complete game since April 22. It was his 209th major league triumph.

Warren Spahn moved up to tie Hall of Famer Carl Hubbell with 253 National League victories by throwing a four - hitter at the Braves while winning 2-1.

In contrast to the homer-packed games at Cincinnati, strikeout pitching predominated in California. Johnny Antonelli struck out 11 although he needed relief help from Stu Miller when the Cubs started to kick up in the ninth. Two Dodger pitchers, Sandy Koufax and Danny McDevitt, whiffed 14 Cardinals and St. Louis pitchers turned in nine strikeouts. The two-club total of 23 tied a National League record.

Roberts bested Lew Burdette in the first game at Milwaukee where 28,590, largest crowd at County Stadium since opening day, saw the two active NL pitchers with the most victories—Roberts and Spahn. Spahn got all the help he needed when Wes Covington hit a two-run homer off Ray Semproch in the first. The lone Phil run off Spahn was a pinch homer by Gene Freese, his fifth of the year.

Maxwell's Homer Beats Tribe, 7-4

DETROIT (AP)—The Cleveland Indians lost the opener of a two-game series to the Detroit Tigers Sunday but kept their one-game lead in the American League pennant race when the second-place Chicago White Sox were trounced by Kansas City.

Gary Bell goes against the Tigers in the series finale today, seeking his fifth victory. He will be opposed by Paul Foytack, whom he beat, 1-0, in Cleveland May 22 although Foytack hurled a two-hitter.

A ninth inning home run by Charley Maxwell with two men on base and one out gave the Tigers a 7-4 victory Sunday afternoon. Scoring ahead of him were Jerry Davie, the winning pitcher, and Harvey Kuenn.

Maxwell picked the first pitch of reliefer Jim Perry for his ninth homer of the season into the upper deck in fight field. It was the first major league home run off Perry, a rookie who was called to the aid of Mike Garcia after Davie had led off with a single and was sacrificed to second base. The loss was Garcia's fourth without a victory.

The Indians got four hits off Davie, a rookie right-hander. They scored three runs in the first inning and added another in the fourth on Billy Martin's home run into the center field seats, but Davie was invincible the rest of the way. He retired the last 13 men he faced in winning his second game against one loss.

Don Ferrarese, who started for the Indians in quest of his fifth victory, walked five men to give the Tigers two runs in the first inning. He lasted until the seventh, when he was lifted for a pinch hitter and Garcia followed him to the mound.

A two-run single by Davie in the third sent the Tigers ahead briefly until Martin tied the score at 4-4 with his fifth home run of the season.

By DALE BURGESS
Associated Press Sports Writer.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)— Rodger Ward, loaded down with loot from the richest auto race ever run, will go right on competing in the world's most dangerous sport.

Ward and his car owner, Leader Cards, Inc., of Milwaukee, won $106,850 in the 43rd 500-mile race Saturday. The World War II fighter pilot's take under the customary contract would be 40 per cent, $42,740.

That means Ward will be risking his neck largely for the U.S. Treasury the rest of this season—but his pretty brunette wife, Jo, says he probably would race for nothing.

"I'm going to make the rest of the USAC championship races and possibly some sports car events if I can get a good car," Ward said.

His next race will be the 100-miler at Milwaukee next Sunday.

It took Ward nine attempts before he won the big pot. Only a dedicated race driver would have continued after his experience in the 1955 Memorial Day classic. His front axle broke, triggering the four-car crash that killed two-time-winner Bill Vukovich.

Ward set a new Speedway record of 135.875 miles an hour, beating Jim Rathmann by 23.27 seconds or about a mile. Rathmann's 135.619 also topped Hanks' 1957 record of 135.601.

It turned out to be a four-car race and Ward got a big assist from his smooth pit crew and air jacks which were installed in his A.J. Watson-built car. He made three stops for fuel and tires in a grand total of one minute and 13 seconds.

Johnny Thomson of Boyertown, Pa., the fastest qualified, had to make four pit stops, broke a torsion bar spring and finished third.

Pacifist Minister Returns To His Pulpit After Prison

CINCINNATI (AP)—A controversial pacifist minister returned to his old church and old life here Sunday after a federal prison term, but there was one big change.

The old church-connected neighborhood house once directed by the Rev. Maurice F. McCrackin had been cut loose and set up as an independent corporation.

Close associates said the minister put much of his church work into building up the neighborhood house.

The church is a joint Episcopal-Presbyterian venture. After the minister's legal troubles cropped up, Episcopal Bishop Henry Wise Hobson decided to take over the neighborhood house, owned by his diocese.

He shook hands at the door with everyone who was at the morning services and heard many say, "so good to see you," and "so good to hear your voice again."

The Rev. McCrackin, who says he won't pay his income taxes because they help pay for war weapons, was released Friday after serving five months and four days of a six month term.

He was convicted Dec. 12 on a charge of ignoring a federal summons to a conference on his income taxes.

In his sermon, he spoke of his joy at returning to the church: "It is a day I have dreamed about and have hungered for."

He went on to say he believes more than a handful of people "have pushed us to the brink of nuclear disaster," and possible World War III.

The Rev. McCrackin, attracted attention during his trial because he said his conscience forbade him to cooperate with federal officials in the matter.

That meant court aides had to lug him in and out of the courtroom, the minister ignored his court-appointed lawyers and took little note of matters in court. He stopped eating for a time in jail.

Pacifist Minister Returns To His Pulpit After Prison

CINCINNATI (AP)—A controversial pacifist minister returned to his old church and old life here Sunday after a federal prison term, but there was one big change.

The old church-connected neighborhood house once directed by the Rev. Maurice F. McCrackin had been cut loose and set up as an independent corporation.

Close associates said the minister put much of his church work into building up the neighborhood house.

The church is a joint Episcopal-Presbyterian venture. After the minister's legal troubles cropped up, Episcopal Bishop Henry Wise Hobson decided to take over the neighborhood house, owned by his diocese.

He shook hands at the door with everyone who was at the morning services and heard many say, "so good to see you," and "so good to hear your voice again."

The Rev. McCrackin, who says he won't pay his income taxes because they help pay for war weapons, was released Friday after serving five months and four days of a six month term.

He was convicted Dec. 12 on a charge of ignoring a federal summons to a conference on his income taxes.

In his sermon, he spoke of his joy at returning to the church: "It is a day I have dreamed about and have hungered for."

He went on to say he believes more than a handful of people "have pushed us to the brink of nuclear disaster," and possible World War III.

The Rev. McCrackin, attracted attention during his trial because he said his conscience forbade him to cooperate with federal officials in the matter.

That meant court aides had to lug him in and out of the courtroom, the minister ignored his court-appointed lawyers and took little note of matters in court. He stopped eating for a time in jail.

Anyone desiring to do so may present a bid for said bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest, but not in excess of 6 per cent, provided that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-quarter of one per cent or a multiple thereof.

Said bonds mature as follows: $10,000 on December 1 in the years 1960 to 1981, inclusive.

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of paying a portion of the cost of a project consisting of certain classroom facilities, pursuant to an agreement with the State Board of Education and under authority of Sections 3318.01 to 3318.20, inclusive of the Revised Code of Ohio.

If each of two or more bids is the highest bid offering the lowest interest rate, the bonds will be awarded on such one of said highest bids as is chosen by the said Clerk by lot. All bids must be accompanied by a bond or certified check on a solvent bank (other than the bidder) payable to said Board of Education, in the amount of one per cent of the par amount of the bonds bid for, upon condition that if the bid is accepted, the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds within a reasonable time after the award thereof or forfeit the same as liquidated damages in the event said condition is not fulfilled.

Bids shall be sealed and endorsed "Bid for School Bonds."

In the event the interest on said bonds should by act of Congress or otherwise become subject to Federal Income Taxes prior to delivery, the successful bidder may refuse to accept delivery and in such event his bond or certified check shall be returned without interest.

It is contemplated that said Board will meet at 7:30 o'clock p. m. on the 11th day of June, 1959, to consider said bids and make an award.

Able And Baker Kept Under Constant Check

WASHINGTON (AP)—Able and Baker, the little monkeys rocketed into space aboard an American missile, will be kept under observation for some time to see if they develop any follow-up effects from their trip.

Scientists say the two weren't hurt a bit by their 1,500-mile flight. But they want to keep the monkeys under long-term observation to make sure the radiation or weightlessness of space travel didn't cause harm.

Cederleaf oil, distilled from the wood of red cedar, is used in liquid soap, polishes, sprays and deodorants.

School Health Program Advances With Growth

Health problems in Midland schools a half century ago were concerned chiefly with whether or not classes should be suspended when there was an outbreak of scarlet fever, measles or other diseases.

Hurried sessions of the board of education were often held at Gamble's Drug Store on 7th St. to decide on closing the schools. If classes were suspended, the rooms would be fumigated before students returned.

As public health responsibilities broadened, more and more attention was focused on pupils' safeguards.

At present the schools have an efficient health program featuring periodic physical and dental examinations, required inoculations for new students, a school nurse and school physician, a clinic at 4th St. and many other protection features.

Regular examinations of children were started in 1921 when Dr. J. W. Cristler was employed to conduct annual inspections at a cost of 25 cents a pupil. The hiring of a school nurse was discussed by the board that year, but it was not until 1926 that Margaret Foster was employed as the first nurse.

In 1928, the board purchased a car for the nurse so she could reach more homes, transport children to clinics and extend health services.

The school health program continued to expand, providing preschool clinics, administration of toxoids, chest x-rays and other medical services. The state health act of 1945 provided that all students should receive a physical and dental examination every two years.

In 1946 Dr. Frank Benedict was appointed school dental examiner, inspecting all children in the odd-numbered grades.

The health act of 1945 also called for schools to have a health advisory council to aid the health program and assist in remedial work found necessary by examinations. Such a board was organized at Midland in 1951, meeting twice a year on health matters.

Upon the recommendation of the Council in 1953 a dental clinic was installed and equipped at the 4th St. School, with various organizations aiding in providing funds for the clinic.

A medical office and examining room has also been provided at 4th St. where all pupils go for their examinations. The whole health program became so large by 1953, a clerk was hired to handle the administrative work.

Dr. Constantine Mourat, school physician, succeeded Dr. Thomas Boyd in 1958. Dr. Boyd replaced Dr. Daniel Suffoletta in 1942, and Dr. Suffoletta had been school physician since 1934, succeeding Dr. Cristler.

Mrs. Margaret Gressly Glumac has been school nurse since 1946. She also served from 1939 to 1942 when she left on military duty.

Other nurses who have served the schools were Mrs. James Jackson 1928, Olive Mechling 1929-34, Bernice Spargo 1934-36, Mrs. Eleanor McKinnon 1937-39; Virginia Rogers, 1942-43, and Mary Kessel 1943-46.

The first telephone central office was established at Midland in 1912. In 1913, there were 22 manually-operated phones and by 1920 there were 282 phones. The first school phone was installed at the Neel School in May 1913.

Swearing In Ritual Follows Usual Pattern

DENVER (AP) — The ritual followed a usual pattern for Don D. Bowman when he was sworn in as a district court judge. The oath was given by District Judge Robert W. Steele.

It was the same Judge Steele who gave Bowman the oath of office in 1927 as a juvenile court probation officer, in 1931 as a district court clerk and in 1933 as a deputy district attorney.

Charles McNeil, a farmer who became burgess of Midland, served as a constable and justice of peace before a police department was organized. J. C. Atkinson was named the town's first police chief in 1907.

Caught Without Magic

PONCA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Amateur magician Ed Bennett was called upon to perform while attending a Rotary Club meeting. He warned fellow Rotarians he wasn't prepared, but went ahead anyway. He borrowed a necktie, cut it into several pieces, said some magic words — all to no avail. He handed back the tie in pieces to its owner.

An unused portable school building at the 7th St. School was sold in 1930 to Ohio Township for $150; another at the 4th St. School was sold the same year to B. F. Shierer for $35. Another portable building at 7th St. was sold in 1937 to Tony Verzella.

4 Seasons Highlight Football Story

Four outstanding seasons in football have highlighted the 39-year history of the sport at Lincoln High School.

Mark down 1931, 1940, 1952 and 1954 as the years that Midland ruled the gridiron.

The 1931 season produced the school's first undefeated team, 9-0, when the games were being played at the old Crucible Field.

Nine years later, in 1940, Midland came up with its second undefeated eleven, which placed a 7-0 mark on the books.

There hasn't been another undefeated team since 1940, but there are two other squads which brought back WPIAL championships to Midland High.

The 1952 edition has the distinction of winning more games in one season than any other Midland team. It turned in a 10-1 record and bacame the school's first WPIAL champion.

It captured a 14-6 victory over German Township in a playoff game to win the championship in 1952.

The 1954 season produced another championship when Midland again made the WPIAL playoff game and shared the title after battling Braddock to a 7-7 deadlock.

The only defeats in the 1952 and 1954 seasons were to Aliquippa, a Class "AA" school compared with Midland, an "A" team.

Football has been at its finest in the past eight years under the coaching of John Petchel, a former professional football player, who has guided the Leopards to their pair of WPIAL championships.

In the last eight years, Midland has had only one losing season. That was in 1953—a 3-6 mark.

The 1955 Midland squad came up with an 8-1 record and only this past season the Leopards were Beaver County champions.

Midland has had only eight football coaches. George A. DeHuff was one of the first mentors when football was launched in 1919, but the sport didn't receive financial assistance until 1921 when official records begin.

Later there were W. Paul Lomand, William Walters, now principal at the high school, Ed McClusky, head basketball coach at Farrell High School, Jim Myers, Ben Kaye, John Wilson and Petchel.

The 1948 season is remembered as the year when Midland played its first game at the new stadium field. It was on Sept. 10 against Beaver, with Midland winning 19-12.

Midland high school teams have played 326 games. Over this stretch 170 victories have been registered against 125 defeats and 31 ties.

Many Midland athletes have gone on to play college football. Just in the last eight years, Petchel has been head coach, 33 players have performed on college teams.

Some of the outstanding gridders of recent years were Gene Martell, Notre Dame; Bob Hibbard, University of Tennessee; John Migliore, Boston University; Paul Farnan (now an assistant football coach at Midland) St. Vincent; Vic Martinetti, Geneva.

Ivan Toncic, John Flara and Henry Suffoletta, Pitt; Vince Paylen, Dayton; Rich Zapsic and Pete Benedict, Toledo; Joe Schulte, Marquette; Willie Perkins, Western Kentucky State; Leon Love, Cincinnati; Mike Raich and Bill Monohan, Geneva; Larry Needs, West Point, and Joe Wuchina, Duke.

Spring Sports Still 'Young'

Spring sports at Midland High School—baseball and track—are rather young compared with football and basketball, which have been played on an interscholastic basis since 1919.

Baseball was started as a high school sport at Midland in 1935 when the Leopards, under Coach Paul Lomond, won their section championship.

In 1940, one of the top years the baseball squad advancing to the WPIAL finals only to be eliminated 3-0 by Trinity.

Coach William Walters coached the 1940 nine.

The Leopards had two other good years in baseball by taking sectional championships in 1947 and 1949.

Midland track and field activities, which have been guided in recent years by Howard Thorne was revived in 1949 with the opening of the new stadium.

Up until the last few years Midland was strong in track. From 1952 to 1956, excluding county and district meets, the Leopards won 23 out of 28 meets.

An inovation was made in 1953 when the first night meet ever held in Beaver County was runoff at the Midland Stadium.

It is now an annual event and the seventh meet was held two weeks ago.

Boy Stays Awake All Night To Hatch Pigeon

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Stanley Burgi, 13, stayed awake all night to hatch a pigeon.

He kept the egg, from which sounds of the baby's pecking were coming, warm in his hands.

Stanley said the mother pigeon flew away and didn't come back to her nest. After the hatching, he took over the job of feeding with an eyedropper.

He had inscribed on it: "Evidence."

School Health Program Advances With Growth

Health problems in Midland schools a half century ago were concerned chiefly with whether or not classes should be suspended when there was an outbreak of scarlet fever, measles or other diseases.

Hurried sessions of the board of education were often held at Gamble's Drug Store on 7th St. to decide on closing the schools. If classes were suspended, the rooms would be fumigated before students returned.

As public health responsibilities broadened, more and more attention was focused on pupils' safeguards.

At present the schools have an efficient health program featuring periodic physical and dental examinations, required inoculations for new students, a school nurse and school physician, a clinic at 4th St. and many other protection features.

Regular examinations of children were started in 1921 when Dr. J. W. Cristler was employed to conduct annual inspections at a cost of 25 cents a pupil. The hiring of a school nurse was discussed by the board that year, but it was not until 1926 that Margaret Foster was employed as the first nurse.

In 1928, the board purchased a car for the nurse so she could reach more homes, transport children to clinics and extend health services.

The school health program continued to expand, providing preschool clinics, administration of toxoids, chest x-rays and other medical services. The state health act of 1945 provided that all students should receive a physical and dental examination every two years.

In 1946 Dr. Frank Benedict was appointed school dental examiner, inspecting all children in the odd-numbered grades.

The health act of 1945 also called for schools to have a health advisory council to aid the health program and assist in remedial work found necessary by examinations. Such a board was organized at Midland in 1951, meeting twice a year on health matters.

Upon the recommendation of the Council in 1953 a dental clinic was installed and equipped at the 4th St. School, with various organizations aiding in providing funds for the clinic.

A medical office and examining room has also been provided at 4th St. where all pupils go for their examinations. The whole health program became so large by 1953, a clerk was hired to handle the administrative work.

Dr. Constantine Mourat, school physician, succeeded Dr. Thomas Boyd in 1958. Dr. Boyd replaced Dr. Daniel Suffoletta in 1942, and Dr. Suffoletta had been school physician since 1934, succeeding Dr. Cristler.

Mrs. Margaret Gressly Glumac has been school nurse since 1946. She also served from 1939 to 1942 when she left on military duty.

Other nurses who have served the schools were Mrs. James Jackson 1928, Olive Mechling 1929-34, Bernice Spargo 1934-36, Mrs. Eleanor McKinnon 1937-39; Virginia Rogers, 1942-43, and Mary Kessel 1943-46.

The first telephone central office was established at Midland in 1912. In 1913, there were 22 manually-operated phones and by 1920 there were 282 phones. The first school phone was installed at the Neel School in May 1913.

Education Grows With Community

The history of public education in the Midland area spans a century, dating to before the Civil War when the few rural residents sent their youngsters off to primitive one-room classes at Smiths Ferry or Industry.

But the present structure of the borough school system stems from the founding of the community some 52 years ago when the Midland Steel Co. began to build its plant, drawing workers and their families to the mushrooming town.

The rapid growth of Midland posed a continual problem for school authorities during the first 20 years—in the decade after 1909, the pupils enrollment doubled itself more than 6½ times!

ALTHOUGH THE borough has been blessed with a comfortable tax income from industrial properties, school building projects have always been given ready support by voters, and the general education program has been backed by the community from the first Neal School to the new gymnasium.

Bricks and mortar, of course, are obvious indications of material growth of schools. But the often intangible quality of education has been marked in Midland by improvements and expansion of the curriculum, increased teaching standards and graduation of students who rank favorably with those elsewhere.

In the latter days of the Civil War, farmers and others living along the border line of Industry and Ohio Townships decided to build a school for their children instead of sending them to the distant classrooms at Smiths Ferry and Industry.

About 1865 J. A. Neel, a coal operator and riverman who came from McKeesport in 1859, donated an acre from his large holdings and a wooden building was erected by William Cook, whose descendants still reside in the area.

This Neel School served the quiet, rustic neighborhood until 1905 when the farms of Neel, Daniel Kaine and others were purchased by a Pittsburgh industrial group, and construction began on the new Midland Steel Co. plant and the homes and buildings of the borough.

A NEW "Neel's Independent School District" was organized to govern the education program, taking the former school from the direct control of the Beaver County system.

Miss Nettie Imbrie was the last teacher to serve the old schoolhouse before it was taken over by the new district. The faculty for the 1907 term of the district totaled three — Arthur T. Meeder, who was teacher and principal at $80 a month, and Miss Delores Reed and Miss Martha Ralston.

The old Neel school lot was in the property bought by the steel firm — near the present blast furnaces — and it was sold to the firm in 1907 for $798 on condition it remain in use as a school until the company needed the land.

A newer one-room frame building was erected at 7th St. and Virginia Ave. as a temporary school, and plans were launched for a permanent brick school for the town. The old Neel School on the mill land was sold to the Catholic Church for $100 and moved in 1912 to Ohio Ave. where it served the congregation until the present church was completed.

In the summer of 1907 construction began on a 2-story brick building with four classrooms at 7th St. and Ohio Ave., costing $12,358. The school board issued $15,000 in bonds for the project which did not require an election approval because the amount did not exceed the required 2 per cent valuation of $869,000 for the district.

WHILE construction work was under way, the increasing number of pupils forced the board to rent—for $45 a month—additional rooms in the J. E. Cook building along Midland Ave., now occupied by the City Restaurant and State Liquor Store.

The school work was delayed by underground springs at the 7th St. site, but drains were installed and by September 1908, the new Neel School was finished, along with a $152 bell tower which the board decided to add.

The townspeople held a dedication program, featuring distribution of 500 souvenir badges and a parade headed by R. B. Marshall, president of the board and owner of a farm east of the town.

Only three years later, the new school was overcrowded, and the frame building nearby was again put to use. By 1912, temporary classes were being held in three different places in the town, and plans were prepared for much needed new buildings.

On June 10, 1913, a $30,000 bond issue for schools was approved by voters in a 50-0 vote, and the next day the board accepted a $12,000 bid to add four rooms at the 7th St. building. Within a month land was bought at 1st St. for another proposed school.

Work on the 7th St. addition moved slowly, and the start of the 1913 fall term was delayed a month until the new part was completed. A temporary frame building had been constructed at 1st St. for classes there, and quarters were still being rented for classes out in town.

Before school began that year, the board of education asked the borough to "do something" about the mud roads around the schools at 7th St. and 1st St. In the early days of the community, there were few paved sections, and in wet weather the streets became morasses. Wooden boardwalks were constructed, but the mud was a primary household problem until streets were surfaced.

THAT SAME year the name of the Neel District was formally changed to the Midland School District, the system having become a fourth class program in 1911 and under the supervision of the county superintendent.

Frank C. Ketler became supervisory principal of the schools in 1913, serving until 1917, and returning later in 1921 for seven more years. Principals after Meeder had been Miss S. G. Reeding in 1908, A. F. Clutton 1909-11, and A. J. Nicely 1912. Chester Des Rochers became supervising principal in 1917 and John Dorr in 1918-21.

The lot at 1st St. was exchanged for another nearby, and in the summer of 1914 work was begun on a brick building at the site—a one-story structure of four rooms with others to be added when needed. This project cost around $23,000.

Lack of class space compelled the board to rent upstairs rooms in the present Murphy's 5 & 10 building for a fifth grade. The continuing influx of new pupils soon brought about renting of another room in te Midland Printing Co. building.

The new first floor of the 1st St. building was hardly finished in March 1915 when the board, pressed by the growing student population, let a contract for a second story after approving a $20,000 bond issue.

By the time the 1st St. building was a year old, the inevitable enrollment climb had surpassed classroom facilities not only at 1st St. and 7th St. but also at the temporary quarters on the second and third floors of the borough building.

Early in 1916 a $40,000 bond issue was approved 158-6 by voters for a new school at 4th St. and Ohio Ave., and the project was advanced enough by the fall of 1917 that classes could be held there.

AS WITH the other buildings, the work was barely finished in February 1918, when a contract for an addition was awarded, the town passing a $40,000 bond issue in a 101-7 vote. A shortage of materials due to World War I held up some of the work. In 1924 a $25,000 bond issue was authorized by the board to further improve the 4th St. building.

When the 4th St. school was finished in 1918, it was used as an elementary building and high school. Prior to 1914 the town's few high school students attended at Beaver, there being no secondary facilities in the new borough.

But in 1914 the school system was extended past the eighth grade with secondary instruction provided at the 7th St. school. This first upper grade group was later moved to 4th St. where Midland's first senior class — one boy and four girls — was graduated in 1918.

After 1914 students from Georgetown, Shippingport, Glasgow and Industry Township were enrolled in the Midland high school program on a tuition basis, further adding to the ever - expanding school population which resulted in establishing half-day sessions and rented classroom facilities during the many years preceding 1926.

Completion of the 4th St. School in 1918 provided enough space that a home ecomomics course was organized for girls, but a manual training program for boys was held up until 1922.

Midland had continued to grow during the war years, and school authorities realized their next problem was to provide a proper high school. By 1919 W. K. Hart, local realtor, was requested to negotiate for the purchase of a tract along Beaver Ave., east of 9th St. for a school site. However, no arrangements were completed at that time.

By 1921 classes were being conducted at the three brick schools, two portable buildings at 4th St. and 7th St. and three other temporary sites, and the board had to order construction of two more portable buildings to meet class needs.

IN 1924 the board—faced with buying a high school site along Beaver Ave. between 9th and 10th Sts. or on the 10th St. hill where the swimming pool is now located—approved the lower tract. Although it was swampy as a result of underground springs, having been a pond and used for ice skating in winter, it was more centrally located and in a level area. The board paid the Pittsburgh Crucible Steel Co. $18,000 for the nine lots.

A $250,000 bond issue for a high school was approved by voters Nov. 6, 1923, after a stirring campaign which included a parade of school children and distribution of 2,500 pamphlets.

A New Castle architect was hired to design the building which the board wanted modeled after a new school at Monongahela, Pa. Bids were opened Sept. 8, 1925, but were rejected, and the board re - advertised the project. Contracts were finally let in October at a cost of $294,000.

The school was ready in 1926, after voters approved in a 254-9 margin a $75,000 bond issue to complete the building. It was dedicated in April 1927 with Sen. David Reed as speaker at the auditorium. First named Midland High School by the board in 1926, the school's title was subsequently changed before the dedication to Lincoln High School.

In 1928, with the town's population over 5,000, the school system became a third class district, and the board requested a superintendent's commission for Ketler. However, he resigned before it became effective, and Harry V. Herlinger of Indiana, Pa., was employed as the district's first superintendent.

Also in 1928 the high school received accreditation with the Middle States Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges, achieving recognition as a competent school whose courses would be accepted for credit by other schools or colleges.

Changes in educational theories and revisions of curriculum to meet modern demands improving the school programs became the pattern of school progress after 1927—once the problems of classroom space had largely been solved by the high school.

When the high school had been completed, the district changed from an 8-4 plan—with eight elementary grades and four high school grades—to a 6-3-3 plan—with six elementary grades, a 3 year junior high school and a 3-year senior high school.

A regular, organized physical education program was begun in 1928 with the hiring of a fulltime director—Alex Dalla Valle—who directed both boys and girls programs until the following year when Mrs. Hazel Lindberg Shope was employed as girls' director.

Library Plays Key Role In Educational System

The familiar stone library building at the 9th St. triangle has been a vital part of the community and school development since it was constructed in 1915 after a donation from the Andrew Carnegie Foundation.

Although originally accepted as the responsibility of the borough government, legal technicalities forced the board of education to accept supervision of construction and later maintenance and operation of the library.

The need for a public library was described as early as 1914 by supporters of the project, and through the influence of some private citizens, a grant was obtained from the Carnegie fund.

ALTHOUGH the ever present problem of providing buildings and new facilities for students burdened the school district in that period, the board accepted the responsibility of the operation of the library and supervised the construction of the $17,000 structure.

The library was opened in 1916, with Miss Marie Murphy the first librarian. In 1919 a board of trustees was appointed to administer the library through the school board.

Besides the slim budget provided by the school, operating funds and improvements to the library have been made through donations and grants from individuals, clubs, industry and other sources.

In 1928, when the school district sought accreditation as a member of the Middle States Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges, one requirement was the use of adequate school library facilities.

AFTER THE basement of the Public Library was remodeled and given new equipment and the necessary books, the school's receiving around 9,380 adults books in fiction, reference and other works and some 4,300 children's books. Circulation annually totals nearly 20,000.

Education Grows With Community

The history of public education in the Midland area spans a century, dating to before the Civil War when the few rural residents sent their youngsters off to primitive one-room classes at Smiths Ferry or Industry.

But the present structure of the borough school system stems from the founding of the community some 52 years ago when the Midland Steel Co. began to build its plant, drawing workers and their families to the mushrooming town.

The rapid growth of Midland posed a continual problem for school authorities during the first 20 years—in the decade after 1909, the pupils enrollment doubled itself more than 6½ times!

ALTHOUGH THE borough has been blessed with a comfortable tax income from industrial properties, school building projects have always been given ready support by voters, and the general education program has been backed by the community from the first Neal School to the new gymnasium.

Bricks and mortar, of course, are obvious indications of material growth of schools. But the often intangible quality of education has been marked in Midland by improvements and expansion of the curriculum, increased teaching standards and graduation of students who rank favorably with those elsewhere.

In the latter days of the Civil War, farmers and others living along the border line of Industry and Ohio Townships decided to build a school for their children instead of sending them to the distant classrooms at Smiths Ferry and Industry.

About 1865 J. A. Neel, a coal operator and riverman who came from McKeesport in 1859, donated an acre from his large holdings and a wooden building was erected by William Cook, whose descendants still reside in the area.

This Neel School served the quiet, rustic neighborhood until 1905 when the farms of Neel, Daniel Kaine and others were purchased by a Pittsburgh industrial group, and construction began on the new Midland Steel Co. plant and the homes and buildings of the borough.

A NEW "Neel's Independent School District" was organized to govern the education program, taking the former school from the direct control of the Beaver County system.

Miss Nettie Imbrie was the last teacher to serve the old schoolhouse before it was taken over by the new district. The faculty for the 1907 term of the district totaled three — Arthur T. Meeder, who was teacher and principal at $80 a month, and Miss Delores Reed and Miss Martha Ralston.

The old Neel school lot was in the property bought by the steel firm — near the present blast furnaces — and it was sold to the firm in 1907 for $798 on condition it remain in use as a school until the company needed the land.

A newer one-room frame building was erected at 7th St. and Virginia Ave. as a temporary school, and plans were launched for a permanent brick school for the town. The old Neel School on the mill land was sold to the Catholic Church for $100 and moved in 1912 to Ohio Ave. where it served the congregation until the present church was completed.

In the summer of 1907 construction began on a 2-story brick building with four classrooms at 7th St. and Ohio Ave., costing $12,358. The school board issued $15,000 in bonds for the project which did not require an election approval because the amount did not exceed the required 2 per cent valuation of $869,000 for the district.

WHILE construction work was under way, the increasing number of pupils forced the board to rent—for $45 a month—additional rooms in the J. E. Cook building along Midland Ave., now occupied by the City Restaurant and State Liquor Store.

The school work was delayed by underground springs at the 7th St. site, but drains were installed and by September 1908, the new Neel School was finished, along with a $152 bell tower which the board decided to add.

The townspeople held a dedication program, featuring distribution of 500 souvenir badges and a parade headed by R. B. Marshall, president of the board and owner of a farm east of the town.

Only three years later, the new school was overcrowded, and the frame building nearby was again put to use. By 1912, temporary classes were being held in three different places in the town, and plans were prepared for much needed new buildings.

On June 10, 1913, a $30,000 bond issue for schools was approved by voters in a 50-0 vote, and the next day the board accepted a $12,000 bid to add four rooms at the 7th St. building. Within a month land was bought at 1st St. for another proposed school.

Work on the 7th St. addition moved slowly, and the start of the 1913 fall term was delayed a month until the new part was completed. A temporary frame building had been constructed at 1st St. for classes there, and quarters were still being rented for classes out in town.

Before school began that year, the board of education asked the borough to "do something" about the mud roads around the schools at 7th St. and 1st St. In the early days of the community, there were few paved sections, and in wet weather the streets became morasses. Wooden boardwalks were constructed, but the mud was a primary household problem until streets were surfaced.

THAT SAME year the name of the Neel District was formally changed to the Midland School District, the system having become a fourth class program in 1911 and under the supervision of the county superintendent.

Frank C. Ketler became supervisory principal of the schools in 1913, serving until 1917, and returning later in 1921 for seven more years. Principals after Meeder had been Miss S. G. Reeding in 1908, A. F. Clutton 1909-11, and A. J. Nicely 1912. Chester Des Rochers became supervising principal in 1917 and John Dorr in 1918-21.

The lot at 1st St. was exchanged for another nearby, and in the summer of 1914 work was begun on a brick building at the site—a one-story structure of four rooms with others to be added when needed. This project cost around $23,000.

Lack of class space compelled the board to rent upstairs rooms in the present Murphy's 5 & 10 building for a fifth grade. The continuing influx of new pupils soon brought about renting of another room in te Midland Printing Co. building.

The new first floor of the 1st St. building was hardly finished in March 1915 when the board, pressed by the growing student population, let a contract for a second story after approving a $20,000 bond issue.

By the time the 1st St. building was a year old, the inevitable enrollment climb had surpassed classroom facilities not only at 1st St. and 7th St. but also at the temporary quarters on the second and third floors of the borough building.

Early in 1916 a $40,000 bond issue was approved 158-6 by voters for a new school at 4th St. and Ohio Ave., and the project was advanced enough by the fall of 1917 that classes could be held there.

AS WITH the other buildings, the work was barely finished in February 1918, when a contract for an addition was awarded, the town passing a $40,000 bond issue in a 101-7 vote. A shortage of materials due to World War I held up some of the work. In 1924 a $25,000 bond issue was authorized by the board to further improve the 4th St. building.

When the 4th St. school was finished in 1918, it was used as an elementary building and high school. Prior to 1914 the town's few high school students attended at Beaver, there being no secondary facilities in the new borough.

But in 1914 the school system was extended past the eighth grade with secondary instruction provided at the 7th St. school. This first upper grade group was later moved to 4th St. where Midland's first senior class — one boy and four girls — was graduated in 1918.

After 1914 students from Georgetown, Shippingport, Glasgow and Industry Township were enrolled in the Midland high school program on a tuition basis, further adding to the ever - expanding school population which resulted in establishing half-day sessions and rented classroom facilities during the many years preceding 1926.

Completion of the 4th St. School in 1918 provided enough space that a home ecomomics course was organized for girls, but a manual training program for boys was held up until 1922.

Midland had continued to grow during the war years, and school authorities realized their next problem was to provide a proper high school. By 1919 W. K. Hart, local realtor, was requested to negotiate for the purchase of a tract along Beaver Ave., east of 9th St. for a school site. However, no arrangements were completed at that time.

By 1921 classes were being conducted at the three brick schools, two portable buildings at 4th St. and 7th St. and three other temporary sites, and the board had to order construction of two more portable buildings to meet class needs.

IN 1924 the board—faced with buying a high school site along Beaver Ave. between 9th and 10th Sts. or on the 10th St. hill where the swimming pool is now located—approved the lower tract. Although it was swampy as a result of underground springs, having been a pond and used for ice skating in winter, it was more centrally located and in a level area. The board paid the Pittsburgh Crucible Steel Co. $18,000 for the nine lots.

A $250,000 bond issue for a high school was approved by voters Nov. 6, 1923, after a stirring campaign which included a parade of school children and distribution of 2,500 pamphlets.

A New Castle architect was hired to design the building which the board wanted modeled after a new school at Monongahela, Pa. Bids were opened Sept. 8, 1925, but were rejected, and the board re - advertised the project. Contracts were finally let in October at a cost of $294,000.

The school was ready in 1926, after voters approved in a 254-9 margin a $75,000 bond issue to complete the building. It was dedicated in April 1927 with Sen. David Reed as speaker at the auditorium. First named Midland High School by the board in 1926, the school's title was subsequently changed before the dedication to Lincoln High School.

In 1928, with the town's population over 5,000, the school system became a third class district, and the board requested a superintendent's commission for Ketler. However, he resigned before it became effective, and Harry V. Herlinger of Indiana, Pa., was employed as the district's first superintendent.

Also in 1928 the high school received accreditation with the Middle States Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges, achieving recognition as a competent school whose courses would be accepted for credit by other schools or colleges.

Changes in educational theories and revisions of curriculum to meet modern demands improving the school programs became the pattern of school progress after 1927—once the problems of classroom space had largely been solved by the high school.

When the high school had been completed, the district changed from an 8-4 plan—with eight elementary grades and four high school grades—to a 6-3-3 plan—with six elementary grades, a 3 year junior high school and a 3-year senior high school.

A regular, organized physical education program was begun in 1928 with the hiring of a fulltime director—Alex Dalla Valle—who directed both boys and girls programs until the following year when Mrs. Hazel Lindberg Shope was employed as girls' director.

Midland Becomes 'Basketball Town'

An overwhelming interest in basketball, motivated by a decade of winning seasons, was one of the factors which prompted the Midland Board of Education to authorize a new $587,614 gymnasium.

During the last 10 years Midland has been converted into a "basketball town." Lincoln High teams, mainly through the efforts of George Hamilton who took over as head coach in 1952, have given their followers some topnotch basketball during the modern era of the sport.

There were many times when the old 600-seat gymnasium was packed to the rafters. Beginning this year, Midland fans will find some comfortable and elaborate surroundings in the spacious confines of the new gym which has a capacity for 1,300 fans.

BASKETBALL has been played at Midland since 1919 when the teams used the floor at the old borough building.

Records of Midland High basketball are incomplete up until 1923 when the team won 3 games but lost 13. Another losing season followed in 1924 when the Leopards won only 2 out of 11.

The sport had to be discontinued two seasons when the borough building was condemned and there was no place to play.

W. Paul Lomand, who was named head coach when basketball resumed in 1927, has the distinction of having the longest tenure as cage mentor.

His first season he showed a 3-11 record, but the next season (1928-29) Lomand was credited with coaching the first winning team at Midland when the Leopards turned in a 9-7 mark.

IN HIS last year, (1936-37) Midland won its first section championship. It then competed in Section 12, but since has moved up to Class "A" and now plays in Section 8.

He took over in 1938 and had immediate success when his team posted a 14-5 record for the best mark in the school's history up until that time.

Midland basketball was at its peak for three years under Walters. The team had a 12-6 record the following season and an outstanding 17-1 record during 1940-41.

HE WAS followed on the scene by the now famous Ed McCluskey, who became head coach at Midland in 1945. McCluskey is now coaching at Farrell High School and only last season his team claimed another state championship.

After defeating Wampum in the first round of the WPIAL tourney, Midland was knocked from the running by Avalon, 43-37.

The 1946-47 season was marked by Midland's jump into Class "A" competition. McCluskey's team finished the year with an 8-14 record.

His last season at Midland showed a .500 record, with 11 victories in 22 games. McCluskey went on to greater fame at Farrell and the next year Midland began a string of winning seasons that has stretched over a decade.

Wilber Dershimer was the next coach on the scene and his first season had an 18-3 record and another section championship.

MIDLAND bounced right back the next year and won its second straight section crown, but lost to Brentwood, 33-31, in the first round of the tournament.

A 13-9 record appeared on the books in 1950-51, but Dershimer recorded his third section championship in four years the following season of 1952-53.

Dershimer's last team at Midland, the 1952-53 squad, lost out to Washington in its second game of the WPIAL play.

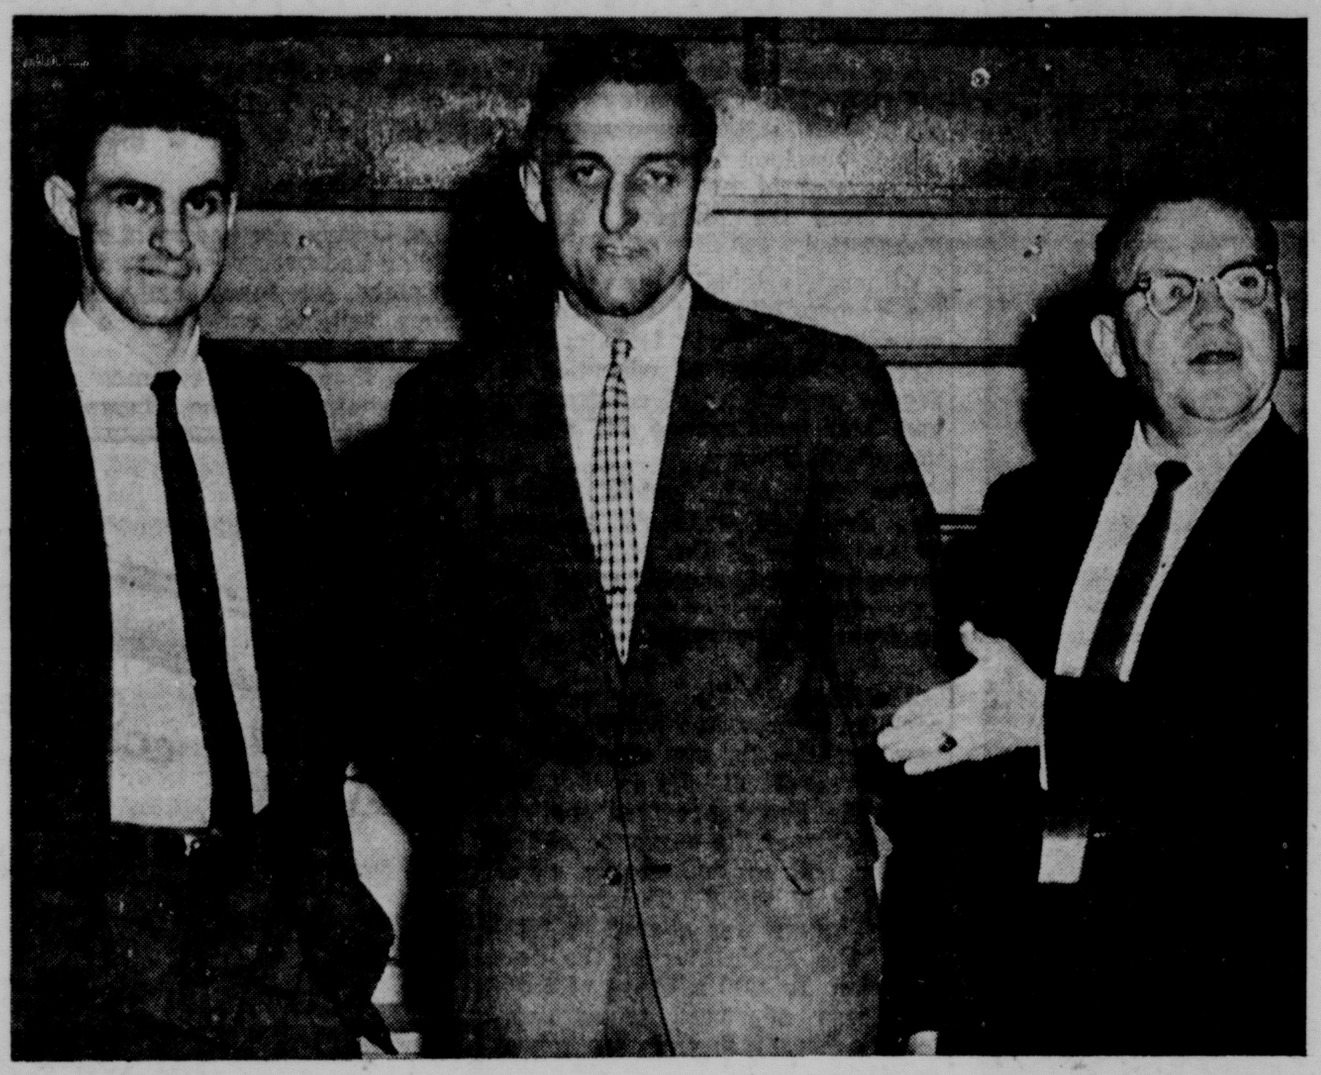
His first team was one of the best in the school's history. It chalked up 19 victories against only 5 defeats. This led to a second straight sectional title, but again the second round of tournament play proved fatal with a 54-32 loss to Rankin.

They still rate Hamilton's 1954-55 team as the best. It featured such stars as All-American Herbie Lake and Mel Evans and posted a 23-2 record. This great team went to the semi-finals before Farrell, under McCluskey, knocked it from the running, 58-54.

Hamilton had a 16-6 record in 1955-56, but was beaten out for the section championship by Monaca then followed with a 12-10 mark the next season.

Midland is now working on two straight sectional crowns. One came in the 1957-58 season when the Leopards had an 18-5 record.

Hamilton's team captured the section this past season and became the third Midland squad to make it to the semi-finals of the WPIAL classic before Charleroi defeated the Leopards, 69-32.



MEL LAING (right), faculty manager at Midland High School, points to the basketball coaching staff—George Hamilton (center) and Ed Olkowski, assistant. In six seasons at Midland, Hamilton has never had a losing season and has four Section 8 crowns to his credit. His team last season gained the semi-finals of the WPIAL tournament.

Here's Story Behind Work

The board engaged Robert F. Beatty, East Liverpool architect, to prepare preliminary plans for the new gym Feb. 14, 1955.

In June of that year, the district was informed that state financial assistance could not be expected.

After voters' approval Nov. 1, 1955, the architect was authorized Feb. 14, 1956, to make detailed plans. Singer, Deane and Scribner were engaged as financial advisers the same month. Bids for constructing the building were received Sept. 17, 1956, but rejected because they were too high. Five days later, bids for the sale of bonds were rejected due to high interest rates.

New plans were prepared by the architect and new construction bids were asked in October 1957. Construction contracts were approved Dec. 2, 1957, and bonds sold to Stroud and Co. on Dec. 9 at 3⅞ per cent interest for a 20-year period. Ground was broken Dec. 16 for construction, which was completed last Feb. 1.

Construction contractors include Beatty, architect; Massa Brothers, Inc., of Beaver Falls, general contractor; Mancine Plumbing and Heating Co. of Monaca, heating, plumbing and ventilating; Reno Electric Co. of Ambridge, electrical; Thompson Floor Co. of Pittsburgh, wood floors.

Roofing and Flooring Inc. of Warren, Ohio, tile floors; Play Co. Sales of Mars, permanent seating and folding curtain; Narragansett Gymnasium Equipment Co. of Centralia, Mo., folding bleachers; and James Hood Miller, Inc. of Pittsburgh, lockers.

Construction costs totaling $587,614.94 included perliminary incidentals $749.42; planning and designs $33,425.35; financing and legal $8,339.79; general construction $355,112.35; heating, plumbing and ventilating $97,026; electrical work $38,766.03; floors $12,429; seating $22,884; folding aluminum curtain $12,610, and lockers $6,273.

Midland school picnics have been held at Rock Springs Park, Chester, as far back as 1915.

Pulp Used For Papers May Go By Pipeline

NEW YORK (AP) — Pulpwood to be made into newsprint may some day travel directly from the forests to the paper mills through pipelines, if an experiment by the Pulp and Paper Research Institute of Canada proves feasible.

The Newsprint Information Committee says tests are underway in which pulpwood, reduced to one-inch chips, is powered through a pipeline 500 feet long and eight inches in diameter.

Library Plays Key Role In Educational System

The familiar stone library building at the 9th St. triangle has been a vital part of the community and school development since it was constructed in 1915 after a donation from the Andrew Carnegie Foundation.

Although originally accepted as the responsibility of the borough government, legal technicalities forced the board of education to accept supervision of construction and later maintenance and operation of the library.

The need for a public library was described as early as 1914 by supporters of the project, and through the influence of some private citizens, a grant was obtained from the Carnegie fund.

ALTHOUGH the ever present problem of providing buildings and new facilities for students burdened the school district in that period, the board accepted the responsibility of the operation of the library and supervised the construction of the $17,000 structure.

The library was opened in 1916, with Miss Marie Murphy the first librarian. In 1919 a board of trustees was appointed to administer the library through the school board.

Besides the slim budget provided by the school, operating funds and improvements to the library have been made through donations and grants from individuals, clubs, industry and other sources.

In 1928, when the school district sought accreditation as a member of the Middle States Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges, one requirement was the use of adequate school library facilities.

AFTER THE basement of the Public Library was remodeled and given new equipment and the necessary books, the school's received the accreditation on the basis of the school facility, even though the library was not in the high school building.

Prior to the development of the school library, the basement of the building had been used for a meeting place for many clubs and groups and, at one time, a private kindergarten.

More than 13,680 volumes are now contained at the library — around 9,380 adults books in fiction, reference and other works and some 4,300 children's books. Circulation annually totals nearly 20,000.

New Gym Rounds Out Athletic Unit

With the addition of a $587,614 gymnasium, Lincoln High School is in step with other schools in Pennsylvania when it comes to athletic facilities.

To round out its athletic plant, Midland has an up to date football stadium which seats 5,000. It has been used by Midland football teams since its completion in 1948.

Before the new gymnasium was finished this year, Midland basketball teams played in the small high school gym which seats only 600. The new plant can handle a crowd of 1,800.

—:—

There is a big difference in a modern athletic budget in comparison with those of years ago.

In 1921, when Midland basketball teams were still playing their games in the old borough building, the board of education approved a $100 budget for athletics.

Taking a later look at a budget during the 1953-54 school year, the board approved $3,000 for athletics, plus several thousand dollars for the improvement and maintenance of the football field.

The upper floor of the borough building had been used for basketball games as early as 1919, but it was not until 1921 that the school officially began spending money for athletics.

In January 1921, the board of education agreed to pay for the installation of showers at the building for basketball squads.

The football program also was launched in 1919, but didn't get any financial support until 1921 when the board approved the $100 for athletics.

By 1925 the board was spending a new high of $300 a year to underwrite the athletic program.

With some foresight in mind, the land where the new gymnasium sits today was purchased in 1944, when the lots between the high school and Midland Ave. were bought for $15,000 from the Midland Improvements Co. in a move to prevent private or commercial interests from utilizing the land and to further provide expansion of school facilities, if necessary.

On July 12, 1945, recognizing the need for larger and improved sports facilities, the board completed the purchase from the Crucible Steel Co. of nine acres of land at the very extreme eastern limits of Midland on Midland Ave.

THIS LAND was purchased for the purpose of developing an athletic field and stadium. The price paid for the property was $20,535.

On May 10, 1946, a Cleveland architectural firm was hired to make plans and prepare the specifications for the development of an athletic field and construction of a stadium.

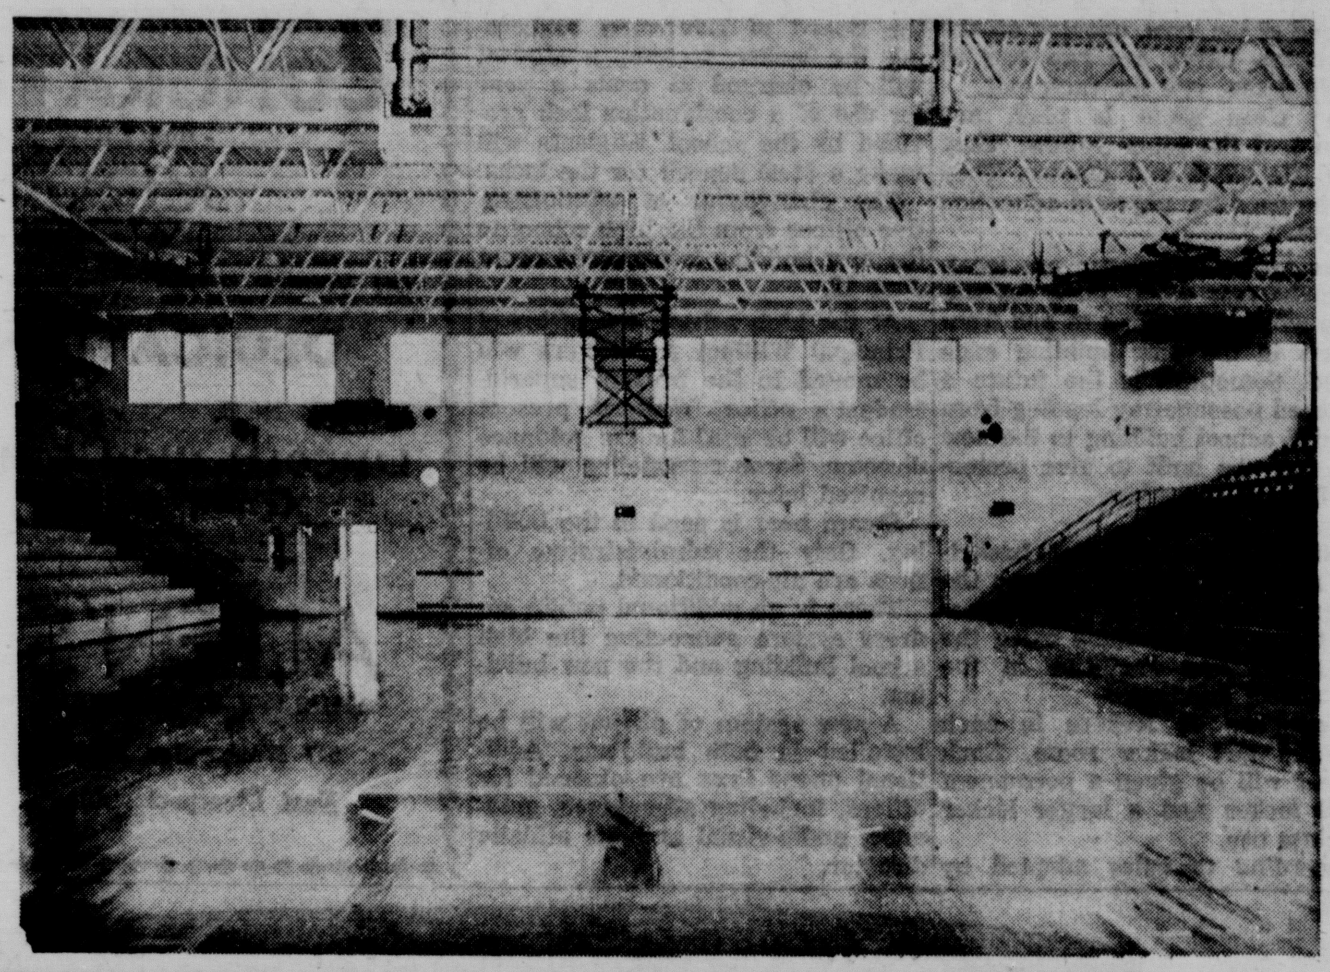
The work on the new stadium was started during the summer and the grading and seeding completed so that it would be ready for the football season of 1947.

In the summer of 1947, poles and the lighting system were installed and for the first time in its history Lincoln High School had a football field of its own equipped for use day or night. The first game was played on Sept. 10, 1948.

The first seats were temporary bleachers, but in 1950 permanent steel stands with a press box were constructed on the east side of the field.

Additions included a large concession stand and ticket booths. The project cost $177,000.

The Midland High School band was organized in 1931 with the hiring of Lyle Hough as director and the purchase of uniforms.



Adult Education Has Been Major Part Of Program

Adult education has been an integral part of the Midland school program, dating from 1919 and including a variety of courses reflecting the learning needs of residents of the community.

A night school program for foreign - born adults was approved in 1919. Classes in English were again set up in 1924 and in 1925 a general night school was approved by the board of education with Fenton Farley, now at Rochester as high school superintendent, in charge.

Since that time, adult education courses have been offered annually, being provided to any group of 15 registrants.

During the 1930's depression period, the schools were used for WPA-sponsored activities, ranging from shoe - repairing to English instruction. These courses were discontinued in 1937.

Pupils Have Been Aided By Competent Teachers

The true values of schools are found not primarily in buildings or books but in the teachers, and by positive policies and good fortune, Midland has had a large proportion of exceptional teachers in the last 52 years.

Length of service is generally no absolute guarantee of teaching worth, but the veteran teachers on Midland's faculty—past and present—uphold the theory that the best endures.

Miss Hogan began teaching here in 1915, later became principal at 7th St. and in 1943 became supervisor of primary instruction.

Next in service among incumbent teachers are Miss Catherine Rutherford with 33 years, and Miss Ethel Pettit and Miss Cora Wickline, both with 30 years. They are elementary teachers.

Supt. Ralph Jewell has a total of 29 years service with the schools.

Francis Lamberson, high school instructor, has 28 years service. Mrs. Eve Mahoney Unferfate and Mrs. Gertrude Gross Bonzo have 27 years each as elementary teachers.

C. Lloyd Deffenbaugh, music instructor, and William Hokman of the high school faculty, have 24 years, and William Walters has 23 years—20 as teacher and three as principal at the high school.

Mrs. Jean Cook Marx, elementary teacher, and Dale Morford, high school instructor on leave, also have 23 years, and Miss Mary Pasternak has taught 20 years.

Former teachers who taught for more than 20 years include Ellen Lafferty, who taught at the junior high school for 31½ years; Roy A. Duncan, another junior high instructor, with 24½ years; Mrs. Jennie Kirk Daugherty with 26 years at the junior high school; Margaret McKeever, and Mrs. Marion Munson Murray with 21 years.

The 7th St. School bell was purchased in 1913.

Midland Becomes 'Basketball Town'

An overwhelming interest in basketball, motivated by a decade of winning seasons, was one of the factors which prompted the Midland Board of Education to authorize a new $587,614 gymnasium.

During the last 10 years Midland has been converted into a "basketball town." Lincoln High teams, mainly through the efforts of George Hamilton who took over as head coach in 1952, have given their followers some topnotch basketball during the modern era of the sport.

There were many times when the old 600-seat gymnasium was packed to the rafters. Beginning this year, Midland fans will find some comfortable and elaborate surroundings in the spacious confines of the new gym which has a capacity for 1,800 fans.

BASKETBALL has been played at Midland since 1919 when the teams used the floor at the old borough building.

Records of Midland High basketball are incomplete up until 1923 when the team won 3 games but lost 13. Another losing season followed in 1924 when the Leopards won only 2 out of 11.

The sport had to be discontinued two seasons when the borough building was condemned and there was no place to play.

W. Paul Lomand, who was named head coach when basketball resumed in 1927, has the distinction of having the longest tenure as cage mentor.

His first season he showed a 3-11 record, but the next season (1928-29) Lomand was credited with coaching the first winning team at Midland when the Leopards turned in a 9-7 mark.

IN HIS last year, (1936-37) Midland won its first section championship. It then competed in Section 12, but since has moved up to Class "A" and now plays in Section 8.

The 1936-37 team advanced to the second round of the WPIAL tournament before Belleview eliminated Midland, 26-25.

William A. Walters, now principal at the high school, had a seven-year association with basketball as head coach.

He took over in 1938 and had immediate success when his team posted a 14-5 record for the best mark in the school's history up until that time.

Walters' first team tied for the section championship, but lost out in a playoff to Monaca, 38-31.

Midland basketball was at its peak for three years under Walters. The team had a 12-6 record the following season and an outstanding 17-1 record during 1940-41.

Midland claimed its third section championship in 1940 and again advanced to the second round of the WPIAL tournament before losing to Bentlyville, 38-36.

HE WAS followed on the scene by the now famous Ed McCluskey, who became head coach at Midland in 1945. McCluskey is now coaching at Farrell High School and only last season his team claimed another state championship.

Under McCluskey, Midland hung up another section championship after compiling a 20-2 season record.

After defeating Wampum in the first round of the WPIAL tourney, Midland was knocked from the running by Avalon, 43-37.

The 1946-47 season was marked by Midland's jump into Class "A" competition. McCluskey's team finished the year with an 8-14 record.

His last season at Midland showed a .500 record, with 11 victories in 22 games. McCluskey went on to greater fame at Farrell and the next year Midland began a string of winning seasons that has stretched over a decade.

Wilber Dershimer was the next coach on the scene and his first season had an 18-3 record and another section championship.

The 1948-49 team also advanced farther than any other Midland team when it reached the semi-finals of the WPIAL tournament before losing to Homestead, 41-38.

MIDLAND bounced right back the next year and won its second straight section crown, but lost to Brentwood, 33-31, in the first round of the tournament.

A 13-9 record appeared on the books in 1950-51, but Dershimer recorded his third section championship in four years the following season of 1952-53.

Dershimer's last team at Midland, the 1952-53 squad, lost out to Washington in its second game of the WPIAL play.

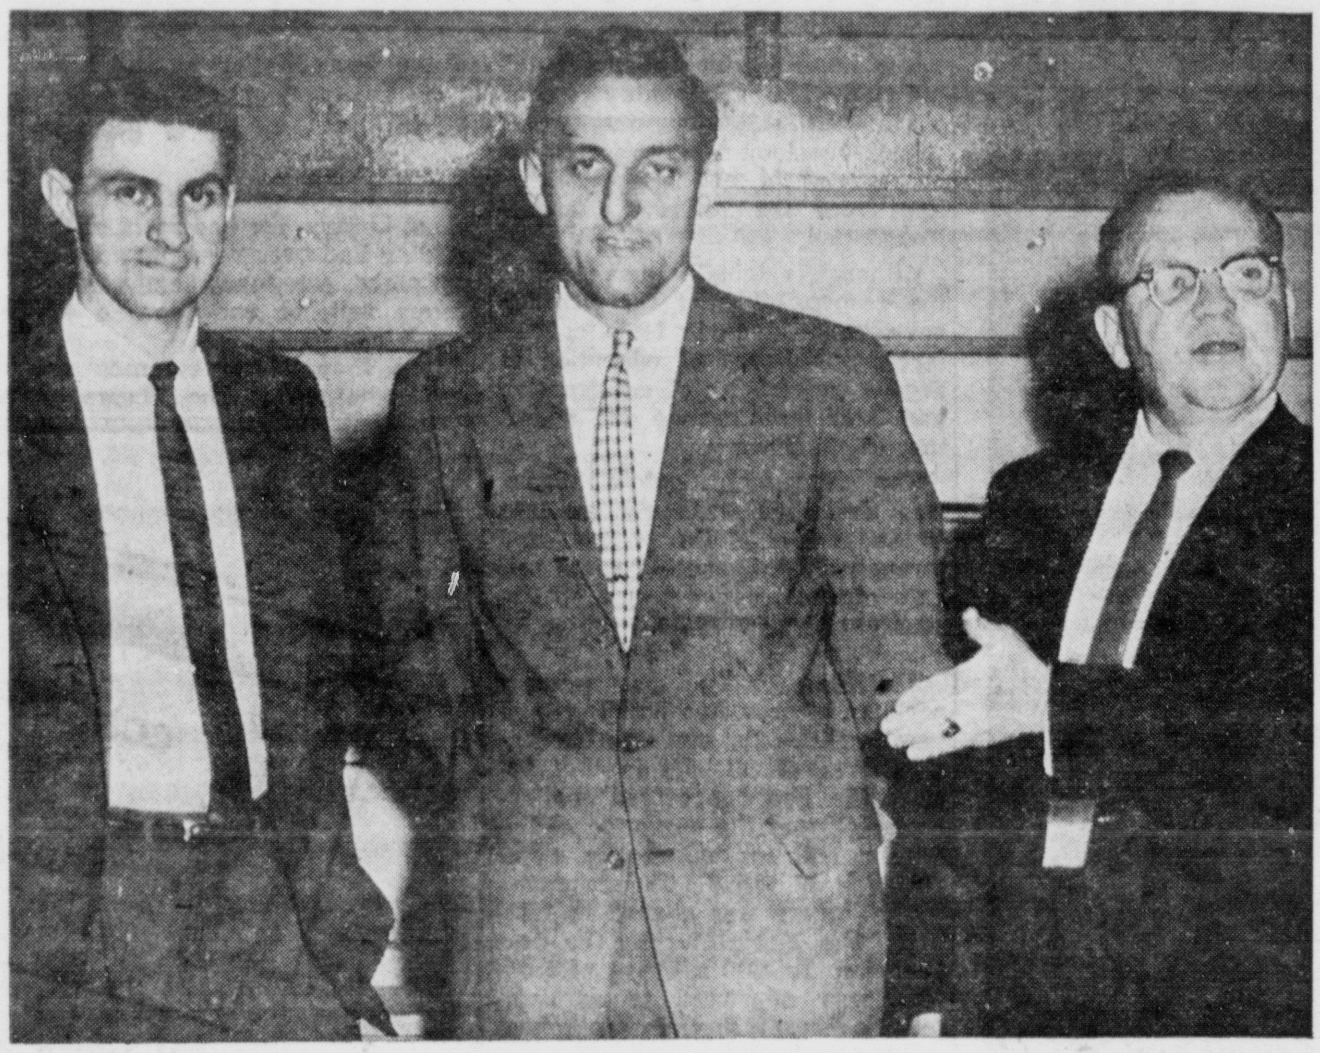
His first team was one of the best in the school's history. It chalked up 19 victories against only 5 defeats. This led to a second straight sectional title, but again the second round of tournament play proved fatal with a 54-32 loss to Rankin.

They still rate Hamilton's 1954-55 team as the best. It featured such stars as All-American Herbie Lake and Mel Evans and posted a 23-2 record. This great team went to the semi-finals before Farrell, under McCluskey, knocked it from the running, 58-54.

Hamilton had a 16-6 record in 1955-56, but was beaten out for the section championship by Monaca then followed with a 12-10 mark the next season.

Midland is now working on two straight sectional crowns. One came in the 1957-58 season when the Leopards had an 18-5 record.

Hamilton's team captured the section this past season and became the third Midland squad to make it to the semi-finals of the WPIAL classic before Charleroi defeated the Leopards, 69-32.



MEL LAING (right), faculty manager at Midland High School, points to the basketball coaching staff—George Hamilton (center) and Ed Olkowski, assistant. In six seasons at Midland, Hamilton has never had a losing season and has four Section 8 crowns to his credit. His team last season gained the semi-finals of the WPIAL tournament.

Here's Story Behind Work

The board engaged Robert F. Beatty, East Liverpool architect, to prepare preliminary plans for the new gym Feb. 14, 1955.

In June of that year, the district was informed that state financial assistance could not be expected.

After voters' approval Nov. 1, 1955, the architect was authorized Feb. 14, 1956, to make detailed plans. Singer, Deane and Scribner were engaged as financial advisers the same month. Bids for constructing the building were received Sept. 17, 1956, but rejected because they were too high. Five days later, bids for the sale of bonds were rejected due to high interest rates.

New plans were prepared by the architect and new construction bids were asked in October 1957. Construction contracts were approved Dec. 2, 1957, and bonds sold to Stroud and Co. on Dec. 9 at 3⅞ per cent interest for a 20-year period. Ground was broken Dec. 16 for construction, which was completed last Feb. 1.

Construction contractors include Beatty, architect; Massa Brothers, Inc., of Beaver Falls, general contractor; Mancine Plumbing and Heating Co. of Monaca, heating, plumbing and ventilating; Reno Electric Co. of Ambridge, electrical; Thompson Floor Co. of Pittsburgh, wood floors.

Roofing and Flooring Inc. of Warren, Ohio, tile floors; Play Co. Sales of Mars, permanent seating and folding curtain; Narragansett Gymnasium Equipment Co. of Centralia, Mo., folding bleachers; and James Hood Miller, Inc. of Pittsburgh, lockers.

Construction costs totaling $587,614.94 included perliminary incidentals $749.42; planning and designs $33,425.35; financing and legal $8,339.79; general construction $355,112.35; heating, plumbing and ventilating $97,026; electrical work $38,766.03; floors $12,429; seating $22,884; folding aluminum curtain $12,610, and lockers $6,273.

Midland schools were host to the Beaver County literary contests in 1922 in the Crowley Theater, now the Crucible Steel Co. metalurgical laboratory.

Midland school picnics have been held at Rock Springs Park, Chester, as far back as 1915.

Pulp Used For Papers May Go By Pipeline

NEW YORK (AP) — Pulpwood to be made into newsprint may some day travel directly from the forests to the paper mills through pipelines, if an experiment by the Pulp and Paper Research Institute of Canada proves feasible.

The Newsprint Information Committee says tests are underway in which pulpwood, reduced to one-inch chips, is powered through a pipeline 500 feet long and eight inches in diameter.

A Look At The Gym

There are two electric scoreboards, an independent public address system and junction boxes for telephone and radio hookups. Some $5,000 worth of equipment will be installed.

—:—

The building has other rooms, including three classrooms, two student locker and shower rooms, a visiting team's locker and shower room, officials' room, boiler room, two equipment storage rooms, the lobby with a concession booth and two public rest rooms.

The general administrative offices which will have some $10,000 to $12,000 in furniture, include the office of the superintendent of schools, a reception area which opens into the general office and school board conference or meeting room. Under these offices, are a large filing room and the electrical equipment and control room.

When the lobby is entered at the main entrance on Midland Ave., it is easy to see the concession booth, located between the two rest room entrances, and the ticket booths with their four windows. To the far left is the trophy case and the door to the general administration offices. To the far right, two sets of three doors which lead into the gymnasium.

WHEN entering the general administration offices, one comes into a reception area. To the left is the office of the superintendent, which is done in cherry paneling, and to the right the combined general office and office of the secretary of the board of education. There are lavatories in the superintendent's and general offices.

This general office includes a partial glass-enclosed work area with counters. On the right wall of the general office there is a metal door leading into the fireproof vault. Another door leads down steps to the filing room and the control room, which contains a natural gas-driven emergency lighting system.

From the reception area for the general office, there is a door leading into the Board of Education conference room. The room is done in oak paneling. There is a banister or railing setting off a part of the room for the public and the press.

On the second level on the left, remedial gym classes will be held when bleacher seats are folded. Those unable to take regular classes will play less demanding activities, such as table tennis and shuffle board. Walls here will be lined with body building and strength building equipment.

There are three sets of basketball banking boards. One set is glass, one metal and the other wood. These enable the team to practice on the type of boards used by opponents.

The boys' locker room is in the near right corner and reached by going down several steps. There is also an instructor's office.

At the far right end of the gym is the officials' room, the visiting team's room and a stairwell leading to a large storage room. This room will be used to store athletic equipment.

One class room is pink, one green and the other yellow. They have tile block and plaster. They will be used for physical education classes.

Two public telephones are located in the rear exits. Some 200 students will be traveling to and from classes in the new building each period. Sometime in the future a sheltered passageway leading from the high school building to the new gym may be built to give protection from the weather.

—:—

ONLY GYM classes, and basketball and track teams will use the locker rooms. Football and baseball teams will continue using the old gymnasium facilities in the high school building.

There are 72 lockers in each boy and girl locker room. Each student will be given a permanent small locker and a larger locker for class use.

According to rules adopted by the Board of Education concerning the locker system, a student will be charged 25 cents a year for use of a combination lock provided by the school. Students will make a $1.60 deposit for the locks.

The changeover of administrative offices from the high school to the new building is expected about June 15.

At the high school, the office of Principal William A. Walters will be moved to the present superintendent's office. Walters' present office will be used for the guidance director. Some remodeling will be required later.

There is an additional public address system connecting the high school building and the new building.

A new system of phones will be installed in both buildings. Additional phone lines are planned for offices, including attendance, guidance, audio-visual and the athletic director.

A summer program of school repairs and maintenance was first launched for Midland schools in 1934.

4 Seasons Highlight Football Story

Four outstanding seasons in football have highlighted the 39-year history of the sport at Lincoln High School.

Mark down 1931, 1940, 1952 and 1954 as the years that Midland ruled the gridiron.

The 1931 season produced the school's first undefeated team, 9-0, when the games were being played at the old Crucible Field.

Nine years later, in 1940, Midland came up with its second undefeated eleven, which placed a 7-0 mark on the books.

There hasn't been another undefeated team since 1940, but there are two other squads which brought back WPIAL championships to Midland High.

The 1952 edition has the distinction of winning more games in one season than any other Midland team. It turned in a 10-1 record and bacame the school's first WPIAL champion.

It captured a 14-6 victory over German Township in a playoff game to win the championship in 1952.

The 1954 season produced another championship when Midland again made the WPIAL playoff game and shared the title after battling Braddock to a 7-7 deadlock.

The only defeats in the 1952 and 1954 seasons were to Aliquippa, a Class "AA" school compared with Midland, an "A" team.

Football has been at its finest in the past eight years under the coaching of John Petchel, a former professional football player, who has guided the Leopards to their pair of WPIAL championships.

In the last eight years, Midland has had only one losing season. That was in 1953—a 3-6 mark.

The 1955 Midland squad came up with an 8-1 record and only this past season the Leopards were Beaver County champions.

Midland has had only eight football coaches. George A. DeHuff was one of the first mentors when football was launched in 1919, but the sport didn't receive financial assistance until 1921 when official records begin.

Later there were W. Paul Lomand, William Walters, now principal at the high school, Ed McClusky, head basketball coach at Farrell High School, Jim Myers, Ben Kaye, John Wilson and Petchel.

The 1948 season is remembered as the year when Midland played its first game at the new stadium field. It was on Sept. 10 against Beaver, with Midland winning 19-12.

Midland high school teams have played 326 games. Over this stretch 170 victories have been registered against 125 defeats and 31 ties.

Many Midland athletes have gone on to play college football. Just in the last eight years, Petchel has been head coach, 33 players have performed on college teams.

Some of the outstanding gridders of recent years were Gene Martell, Notre Dame; Bob Hibbard, University of Tennessee; John Migliore, Boston University; Paul Farnan (now an assistant football coach at Midland) St. Vincent; Vic Martinetti, Geneva.

Ivan Toncic, John Flara and Henry Suffoletta, Pitt; Vince Paylen, Dayton; Rich Zapsic and Pete Benedict, Toledo; Joe Schulte, Marquette; Willie Perkins, Western Kentucky State; Leon Love, Cincinnati; Mike Raich and Bill Monohan, Geneva; Larry Needs, West Point, and Joe Wuchina, Duke.

Spring Sports Still 'Young'

Spring sports at Midland High School—baseball and track—are rather young compared with football and basketball, which have been played on an interscholastic basis since 1919.

Baseball was started as a high school sport at Midland in 1935 when the Leopards, under Coach Paul Lomond, won their section championship.

In 1940, one of the top years the baseball squad advancing to the WPIAL finals only to be eliminated 3-0 by Trinity.

Coach William Walters coached the 1940 nine.

The Leopards had two other good years in baseball by taking sectional championships in 1947 and 1949.

Midland track and field activities, which have been guided in recent years by Howard Thorne was revived in 1949 with the opening of the new stadium.

Up until the last few years Midland was strong in track. From 1952 to 1956, excluding county and district meets, the Leopards won 23 out of 28 meets.

An inovation was made in 1953 when the first night meet ever held in Beaver County was runoff at the Midland Stadium.

It is now an annual event and the seventh meet was held two weeks ago.

Boy Stays Awake All Night To Hatch Pigeon

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Stanley Burgi, 13, stayed awake all night to hatch a pigeon.

He kept the egg, from which sounds of the baby's pecking were coming, warm in his hands.

Stanley said the mother pigeon flew away and didn't come back to her nest. After the hatching, he took over the job of feeding with an eyedropper.

IN HIS last year, (1936-37) Midland won its first section championship. It then competed in Section 12, but since has moved up to Class "A" and now plays in Section 8.

William A. Walters, now principal at the high school, had a seven-year association with basketball as head coach.

The 1948-49 team also advanced farther than any other Midland team when it reached the semi-finals of the WPIAL tournament before losing to Homestead, 41-38.

A 13-9 record appeared on the books in 1950-51, but Dershimer recorded his third section championship in four years the following season of 1952-53.

Dershimer's last team at Midland, the 1952-53 squad, lost out to Washington in its second game of the WPIAL play.

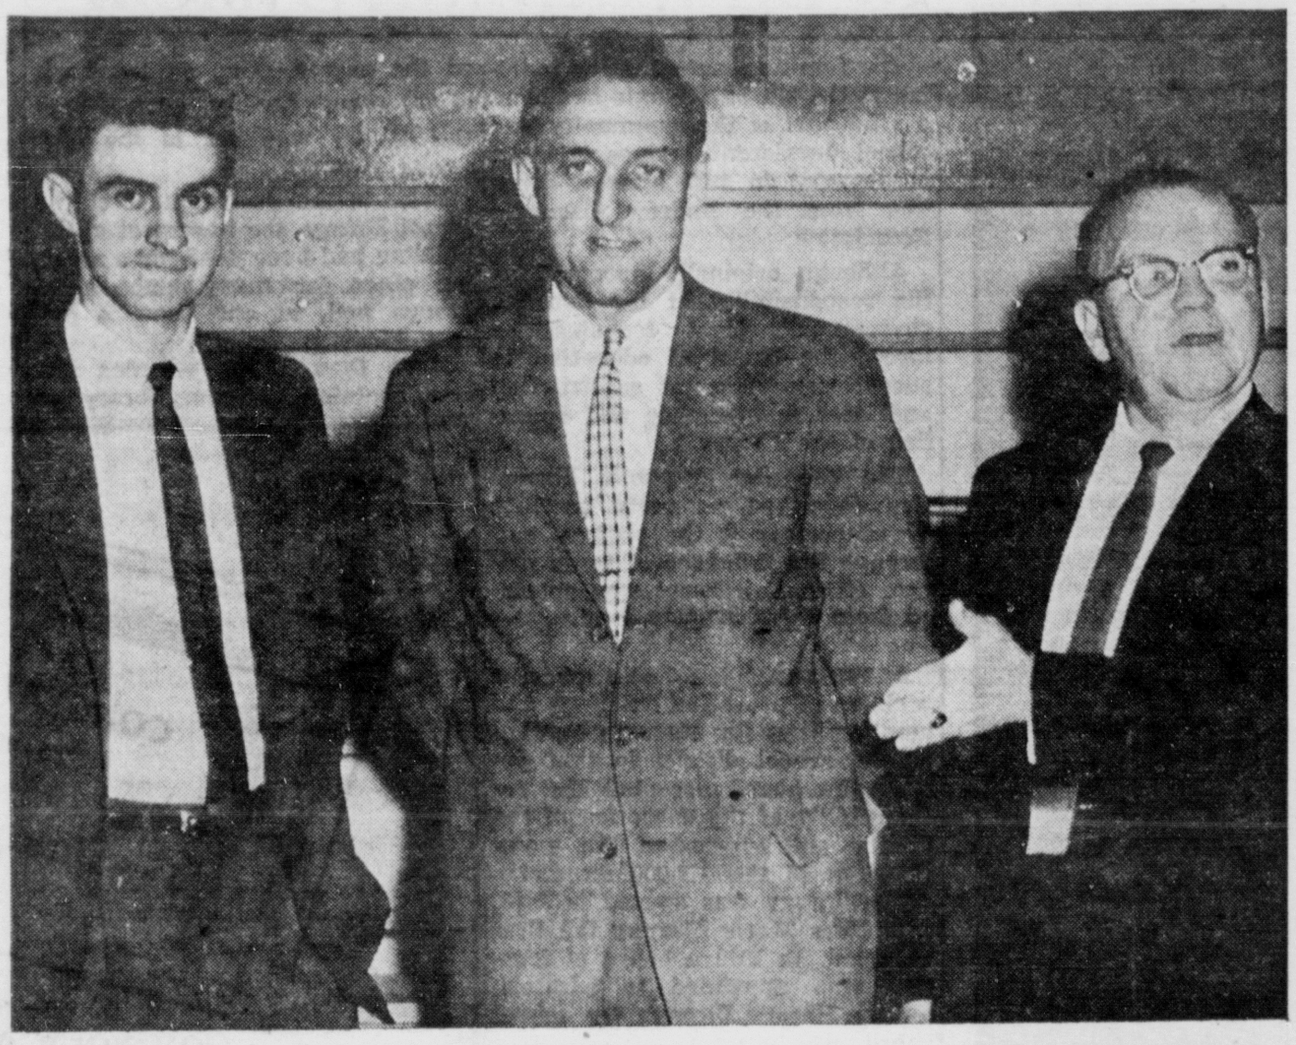
Hamilton had a 16-6 record in 1955-56, but was beaten out for the section championship by Monaca then followed with a 12-10 mark the next season.

Midland is now working on two straight sectional crowns. One came in the 1957-58 season when the Leopards had an 18-5 record.

Hamilton's team captured the section this past season and became the third Midland squad to make it to the semi-finals of the WPIAL classic before Charleroi defeated the Leopards, 69-32.



MEL LAING (right), faculty manager at Midland High School, points to the basketball coaching staff—George Hamilton (center) and Ed Olkowski, assistant. In six seasons at Midland, Hamilton has never had a losing season and has four Section 8 crowns to his credit. His team last season gained the semi-finals of the WPIAL tournament.

Pulp Used For Papers May Go By Pipeline

NEW YORK (AP) — Pulpwood to be made into newsprint may some day travel directly from the forests to the paper mills through pipelines, if an experiment by the Pulp and Paper Research Institute of Canada proves feasible.

The Newsprint Information Committee says tests are underway in which pulpwood, reduced to one-inch chips, is powered through a pipeline 500 feet long and eight inches in diameter.

Midland schools were host to the Beaver County literary contests in 1922 in the Crowley Theater, now the Crucible Steel Co. metalurgical laboratory.

New Gym Rounds Out Athletic Unit

With the addition of a $587,614 gymnasium, Lincoln High School is in step with other schools in Pennsylvania when it comes to athletic facilities.

To round out its athletic plant, Midland has an up to date football stadium which seats 5,000. It has been used by Midland football teams since its completion in 1948.

Before the new gymnasium was finished this year, Midland basketball teams played in the small high school gym which seats only 600. The new plant can handle a crowd of 1,800.

—:—

There is a big difference in a modern athletic budget in comparison with those of years ago.

In 1921, when Midland basketball teams were still playing their games in the old borough building, the board of education approved a $100 budget for athletics.

Taking a later look at a budget during the 1953-54 school year, the board approved $3,000 for athletics, plus several thousand dollars for the improvement and maintenance of the football field.

The upper floor of the borough building had been used for basketball games as early as 1919, but it was not until 1921 that the school officially began spending money for athletics.

In January 1921, the board of education agreed to pay for the installation of showers at the building for basketball squads.

The football program also was launched in 1919, but didn't get any financial support until 1921 when the board approved the $100 for athletics.

By 1925 the board was spending a new high of $300 a year to underwrite the athletic program.

With some foresight in mind, the land where the new gymnasium sits today was purchased in 1944, when the lots between the high school and Midland Ave. were bought for $15,000 from the Midland Improvements Co. in a move to prevent private or commercial interests from utilizing the land and to further provide expansion of school facilities, if necessary.

On July 12, 1945, recognizing the need for larger and improved sports facilities, the board completed the purchase from the Crucible Steel Co. of nine acres of land at the very extreme eastern limits of Midland on Midland Ave.

THIS LAND was purchased for the purpose of developing an athletic field and stadium. The price paid for the property was $20,535.

On May 10, 1946, a Cleveland architectural firm was hired to make plans and prepare the specifications for the development of an athletic field and construction of a stadium.

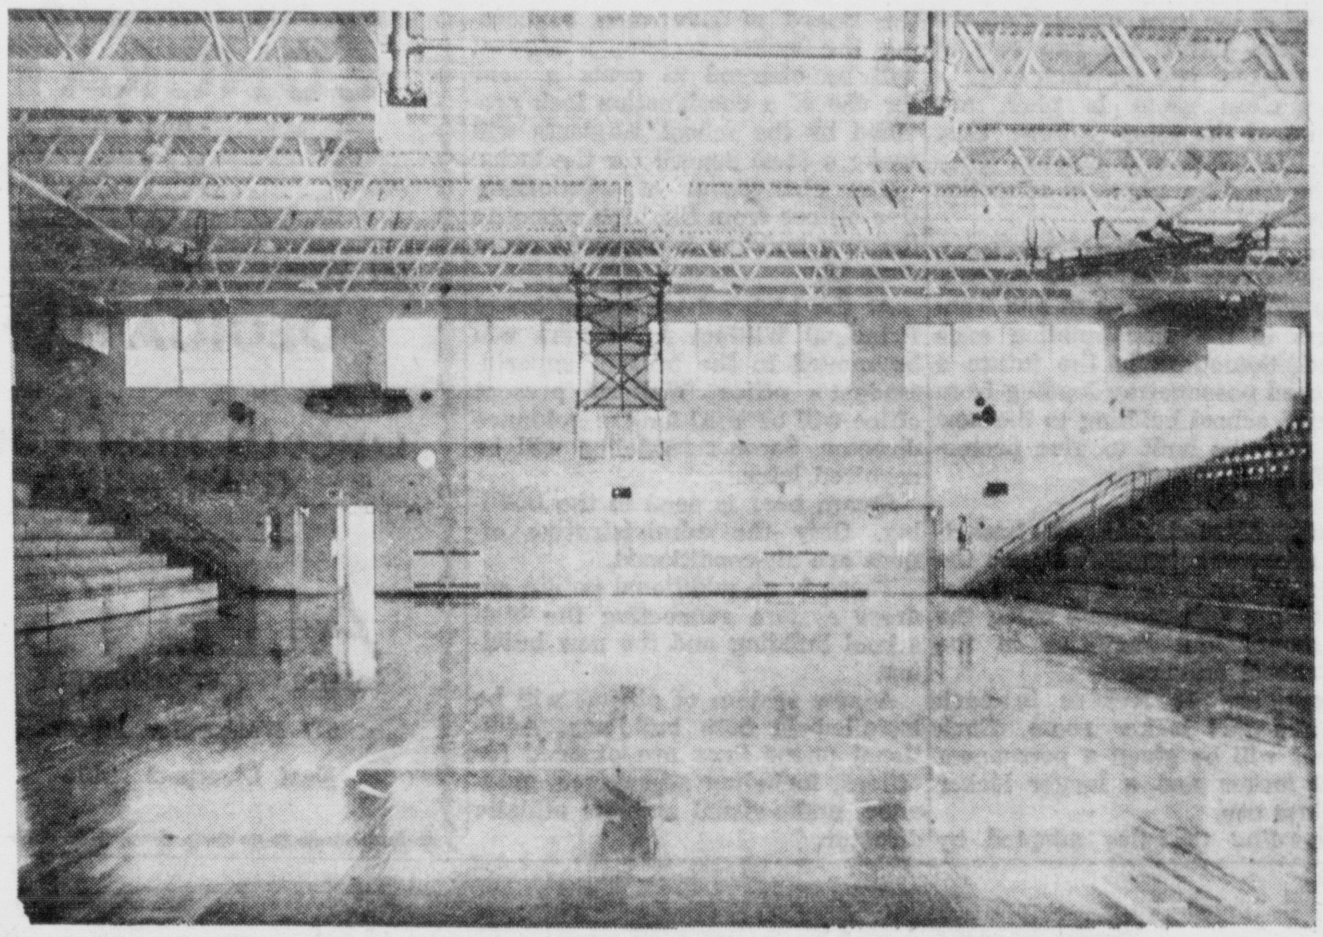
The work on the new stadium was started during the summer and the grading and seeding completed so that it would be ready for the football season of 1947.

In the summer of 1947, poles and the lighting system were installed and for the first time in its history Lincoln High School had a football field of its own equipped for use day or night. The first game was played on Sept. 10, 1948.

The first seats were temporary bleachers, but in 1950 permanent steel stands with a press box were constructed on the east side of the field.

Additions included a large concession stand and ticket booths. The project cost $177,000.

The Midland High School band was organized in 1931 with the hiring of Lyle Hough as director and the purchase of uniforms.



Adult Education Has Been Major Part Of Program

Adult education has been an integral part of the Midland school program, dating from 1919 and including a variety of courses reflecting the learning needs of residents of the community.

A night school program for foreign - born adults was approved in 1919. Classes in English were again set up in 1924 and in 1925 a general night school was approved by the board of education with Fenton Farley, now at Rochester as high school superintendent, in charge.

Since that time, adult education courses have been offered annually, being provided to any group of 15 registrants.

During the 1930's depression period, the schools were used for WPA-sponsored activities, ranging from shoe - repairing to English instruction. These courses were discontinued in 1937.

Pupils Have Been Aided By Competent Teachers

The true values of schools are found not primarily in buildings or books but in the teachers, and by positive policies and good fortune, Midland has had a large proportion of exceptional teachers in the last 52 years.

Length of service is generally no absolute guarantee of teaching worth, but the veteran teachers on Midland's faculty—past and present—uphold the theory that the best endures.

Miss Margaret Hogan, principal of all elementary buildings since 1946, tops the faculty service record with 42 years in schools in Midland.

Miss Hogan began teaching here in 1915, later became principal at 7th St. and in 1943 became supervisor of primary instruction.

Next in service among incumbent teachers are Miss Catherine Rutherford with 33 years, and Miss Ethel Pettit and Miss Cora Wickline, both with 30 years. They are elementary teachers.

Supt. Ralph Jewell has a total of 29 years service with the schools.

Francis Lamberson, high school instructor, has 28 years service. Mrs. Eve Mahoney Unferfate and Mrs. Gertrude Gross Bonzo have 27 years each as elementary teachers.

C. Lloyd Deffenbaugh, music instructor, and William Hokman of the high school faculty, have 24 years, and William Walters has 23 years—20 as teacher and three as principal at the high school.

Mrs. Jean Cook Marx, elementary teacher, and Dale Morford, high school instructor on leave, also have 23 years, and Miss Mary Pasternak has taught 20 years.

Former teachers who taught for more than 20 years include Ellen Lafferty, who taught at the junior high school for 31½ years; Roy A. Duncan, another junior high instructor, with 24½ years; Mrs. Jennie Kirk Daugherty with 26 years at the junior high school; Margaret McKeever, and Mrs. Marion Munson Murray with 21 years.

The 7th St. School bell was purchased in 1913.

A Look At The Gym

It boasts a folding, aluminum electrically-operated curtain, which allows for two physical education classes at the same time.

There are two electric scoreboards, an independent public address system and junction boxes for telephone and radio hookups. Some $5,000 worth of equipment will be installed.

AN AREA also is provided on a second level of the gym for remedial physical education classes for the handicapped.

The building has other rooms, including three classrooms, two student locker and shower rooms, a visiting team's locker and shower room, officials' room, boiler room, two equipment storage rooms, the lobby with a concession booth and two public rest rooms.

The general administrative offices which will have some $10,000 to $12,000 in furniture, include the office of the superintendent of schools, a reception area which opens into the general office and school board conference or meeting room. Under these offices, are a large filing room and the electrical equipment and control room.

When the lobby is entered at the main entrance on Midland Ave., it is easy to see the concession booth, located between the two rest room entrances, and the ticket booths with their four windows. To the far left is the trophy case and the door to the general administration offices. To the far right, two sets of three doors which lead into the gymnasium.

WHEN entering the general administration offices, one comes into a reception area. To the left is the office of the superintendent, which is done in cherry paneling, and to the right the combined general office and office of the secretary of the board of education. There are lavatories in the superintendent's and general offices.

This general office includes a partial glass-enclosed work area with counters. On the right wall of the general office there is a metal door leading into the fireproof vault. Another door leads down steps to the filing room and the control room, which contains a natural gas-driven emergency lighting system.

From the reception area for the general office, there is a door leading into the Board of Education conference room. The room is done in oak paneling. There is a banister or railing setting off a part of the room for the public and the press.

On the second level on the left, remedial gym classes will be held when bleacher seats are folded. Those unable to take regular classes will play less demanding activities, such as table tennis and shuffle board. Walls here will be lined with body building and strength building equipment.

There are three sets of basketball banking boards. One set is glass, one metal and the other wood. These enable the team to practice on the type of boards used by opponents.

The boys' locker room is in the near right corner and reached by going down several steps. There is also an instructor's office.

At the far right end of the gym is the officials' room, the visiting team's room and a stairwell leading to a large storage room. This room will be used to store athletic equipment.

The three class rooms are at the end of the gym, opening off the two exits. There are two sets of double doors, one for each exit.

One class room is pink, one green and the other yellow. They have tile block and plaster. They will be used for physical education classes.

Two public telephones are located in the rear exits. Some 200 students will be traveling to and from classes in the new building each period. Sometime in the future a sheltered passageway leading from the high school building to the new gym may be built to give protection from the weather.

ONLY GYM classes, and basketball and track teams will use the locker rooms. Football and baseball teams will continue using the old gymnasium facilities in the high school building.

There are 72 lockers in each boy and girl locker room. Each student will be given a permanent small locker and a larger locker for class use.

According to rules adopted by the Board of Education concerning the locker system, a student will be charged 25 cents a year for use of a combination lock provided by the school. Students will make a $1.60 deposit for the locks.

The changeover of administrative offices from the high school to the new building is expected about June 15.

At the high school, the office of Principal William A. Walters will be moved to the present superintendent's office. Walters' present office will be used for the guidance director. Some remodeling will be required later.

There is an additional public address system connecting the high school building and the new building.

A new system of phones will be installed in both buildings. Additional phone lines are planned for offices, including attendance, guidance, audio-visual and the athletic director.

A summer program of school repairs and maintenance was first launched for Midland schools in 1934.
